NOTE: The following guidelines govern media covering PRCA events, as well as those co-sponsored and approved by the association. All media must review these guidelines. Failure to adhere to these guidelines may, at the discretion of the PRCA and/or the respective rodeo committee, result in forfeiture of media credentials and an immediate escort from the premises, as well as refusal of accreditation for future events. Unless specified otherwise, journalists and media are general terms for print, broadcast, Internet and photo journalists.

General media guidelines and regulations

- Credentials are distributed on an as-available basis to journalists of recognized news outlets who are on assignment to cover the event and/or the PRCA. Journalists must represent recognized daily or weekly newspapers; news services; recognized publications and outlets that regularly cover rodeo; recognized national/regional radio and television networks; local radio and television stations; and/or recognized Internet sites. In each case, this determination is at the sole discretion of the PRCA and the respective rodeo.
- Accreditation badge must be worn at all times.
- The PRCA retains all rights to the filming, taping, recording in any media now or hereafter known, still footage/photography, radio or television broadcasting or reproduction in any manner or form thereof of any PRCA-sanctioned event.
- Credential applications and approved credentials to cover individual PRCA rodeos are available through each individual rodeo. Media credentials should be requested well in advance of the rodeo.
- Security checkpoints and procedures have been implemented in the interest of safety for everyone. Accredited media are expected to cooperate with the procedures and requirements implemented for access to the media, photographer and broadcast areas. Media access will vary by rodeo, and the media rules of the respective rodeo must be followed.
- Contestants may be available for interviews after they compete.
- Many of the individuals staffing media areas are volunteers, and accredited media and broadcasters are expected to treat them with courtesy and respect.
- Where provided (the Wrangler NFR, RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo and other major rodeos), the media workroom and other media areas are the workplaces for accredited media. To ensure a positive working environment for all, please avoid making excessive noise in working areas; do not leave belongings in the common work area overnight; and dispose of unwanted papers, etc., to assist in keeping the area neat. A media workroom is not a gathering place for staff and volunteers.
- The media rooms at the PRCA’s premier events are nonsmoking areas.
- Each individual is responsible for his/her personal property. The PRCA and/or the local rodeo committee are not responsible for thefts or damage to personal items.
- Media access to contestant dressing and warm-up areas is regulated by the respective rodeo.

Television, radio and Internet

- The PRCA owns the rights to originate live, play-by-play coverage from the rodeo grounds, and in many instances, these rights may have been awarded to a broadcast or cable network and/or an Internet provider. Subject to limitations, local radio, television stations, networks and Internet providers who were not specifically granted those rights are nonetheless encouraged to cover PRCA events with the following limitations.
- The only exception is coverage for local, regularly scheduled newscasts. Any nonlocal news outlets must first get approval from the national PRCA office and the local rodeo before they can shoot footage at any PRCA-sanctioned rodeo.
- Some rodeo rounds are televised, and for those sessions, access may be limited.
- Any TV/radio broadcaster/photographer who does not comply with the above regulations will, without warning, have his/her accreditation withdrawn for the remainder of the rodeo and may be banned by the PRCA from covering future events.
Media Guidelines

• For local, regional and national TV news coverage, video of PRCA rodeos shall not exceed three minutes in length in the daily aggregate and must be part of a regularly scheduled newscast. Only prerecorded footage may be included in these reports. The outlet may not purport to show live play-by-play coverage from a rodeo unless approved in advance by the local rodeo and the PRCA.
  • Local credentialed TV outlets may broadcast live from the rodeo grounds, as long as the broadcast does not include footage from inside the arena (which is covered above).
  • The use of tripods is limited, based on available space.
  • Television cameras are not allowed on the arena floor, with the exception of the TV network covering the event.
  • The PRCA owns the rights to all recorded coverage of its rodeos, whether it airs on a national, regional and/or local network. Such television outlets will provide the PRCA with copies of their coverage upon request.
  • Radio and Internet (audio or video) coverage may not purport to be live play-by-play from the rodeo unless this capacity has been approved and arranged in advance with the local committee and the PRCA.

General photography guidelines

• Only PRCA member photographers are granted a worldwide, nonexclusive, royalty-free license to use, reproduce, display and distribute images taken during PRCA-sanctioned events. No other photographer is allowed to shoot a PRCA-sanctioned event without written approval from the PRCA or the rodeo committee.
  • Only PRCA-member photographers are permitted to shoot from inside the arena or behind the chutes during PRCA events. An exception may be made for in-arena awards or presentations, if applicable and coordinated with the PRCA photographer and the rodeo committee before the rodeo performance.
  • Freelance and media photographers must shoot from designated areas and may not shoot from behind the bucking chutes (on the chute platform). Proper Western attire (long sleeve shirt with collar) is recommended. Cowboy hat is not required, but ball caps are not permitted.
  • Freelance and media photographers will not be approved to photograph a PRCA-sanctioned event without proof of assignment for a specific media outlet and without signing an agreement to limit usage of the images to the specified assignment.
  • News media are encouraged to obtain photographs/images from PRCA photographers where available.
  • All photographers who are not PRCA members must sign the PRCA license form agreeing that photographs may not be used, sold or reused in any other manner including, but not limited to, broadcast or streaming in any format (to include any websites) or for any other purpose without the prior written consent of the PRCA. Freelance and media photographers must not interfere with contestants or judges during the performance. The PRCA license agreement for media and freelance photographers is available through the rodeo committee or by calling PRCA Media at 719.528.4736.
  • Any secondary, noneditorial or commercial use of any picture/image, film or drawing of a PRCA-sanctioned event or competitor is prohibited without prior written consent of the PRCA and the contestant.
  • Commercial photography is prohibited unless prior written approval and the proper clearances have been obtained from the PRCA, rodeo committee, and contestant before the first rodeo performance.
  • Photographers who do not comply fully with the above regulations may, without warning, have their credentials withdrawn for the remainder of the rodeo and may be banned by the PRCA from photographing future events.
The Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA), headquartered in Colorado Springs, Colo., is the largest and oldest rodeo-sanctioning body in the world. The recognized leader in professional rodeo, the PRCA is committed to maintaining the highest standards in the industry in every area, from improving working conditions for contestants and monitoring livestock welfare to boosting entertainment value and promoting sponsors. The PRCA also proudly supports youth rodeo with educational camps and financial assistance to young standouts preparing to enter the professional ranks, as well as supporting allied organizations such as Tough Enough to Wear Pink, Miss Rodeo America, the American Quarter Horse Association and the ProRodeo Hall of Fame.

Annually, the PRCA sanctions or co-sanctions about 600 top-of-the-line multiple-event rodeos on the continent, in nearly all U.S. states and three other countries: Canada, Mexico and Brazil. As a membership-driven organization, the PRCA works to ensure that every event it sanctions is managed with fairness and competence and that the livestock used is healthy and cared for to the highest standards. Here are some key facts about participants in ProRodeo and the PRCA:

Fans. More than 30 million people identify themselves as fans of ProRodeo, and many of them attend PRCA-sanctioned rodeos around the country annually. According to the Sports Business Daily, rodeo is seventh in overall attendance for major sporting events, ahead of golf and tennis. Fans can follow professional rodeo all year long through the PRCA’s television coverage on ProRodeoTV.com, the Wrangler Network, the PRCA’s ProRodeo Sports News magazine and ProRodeo.com, as well as other rodeo-related media outlets.

Competition. Unlike most other professional sports, where contestants are paid salaries regardless of how well they do at a particular competition, cowboys generally pay to enter each rodeo. If they place high enough to win money, they probably make a profit, but if they don’t, they’ve lost their entry fee and any travel expenses. Every entry is a gamble pitting the chance for loss and physical injury against the chance for financial windfall and athletic glory. Also, unlike most sanctioned professional sports, the hundreds of “playing fields” – rodeo arenas – of PRCA-sanctioned rodeos vary widely. The size, shape, perimeter of an arena, as well as the chute configuration and whether it’s indoors or outdoors, all significantly affect times for timed events and, to a lesser extent, scores for roughstock events. The differences are significant that some timed-event cowboys own different horses for different types of arenas. For that reason, the fairest way to measure cowboys’ success in competition across the varied settings is by earnings. The total payout at PRCA rodeos in 2018 was $49,039,182.

Cowboys. The PRCA’s membership includes nearly 5,000 cowboys (including permit holders), who comprise the majority of the association's roster, as well as about 1,000 contract personnel (performers and workers). The largest membership segment includes a full range of contestants, from cowboys who compete in professional rodeo for a living, crisscrossing the country with their own horses or equipment, as well as to those who work at other jobs during the week and compete in nearby rodeos on the weekends. Read more about individual athletes in the ProRodeo Cowboys chapter of this book.

Permit system. Cowboys who want to apply for membership in the PRCA must first obtain a permit card and then earn at least $1,000 at PRCA-sanctioned rodeos. There is no time limit to “fill” the permit. Money won under a permit card counts toward circuit standings, but not toward world standings or rookie standings. (A rookie is a cowboy in his first year as a PRCA card-holding contestant.)

World champions. “World champion” is the most coveted title in ProRodeo. The sport’s world champions are crowned at the conclusion of the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo, based on total season earnings at PRCA rodeos across the continent, including money earned at the NFR (see the next section of this chapter). The PRCA crowns eight world titlists; each receive a gold buckle and a specially crafted trophy saddle.

Stock contractors. All PRCA rodeo events involve livestock, and the care of those animals falls to the stock contractors who buy or breed them, raise them, feed them, watch over them, provide medical care when necessary, and transport them safely between rodeos and their home pastures. PRCA stock contractors agree to follow more than 70 rules providing for the care and humane treatment of livestock – the toughest standards in the industry – and constantly look for ways to improve their husbandry, knowing that best practices produce top-performing livestock. Read more in the PRCA and Livestock Welfare section of this chapter.
About the PRCA

Judges. There are at least two judges at every PRCA rodeo who have attended judging seminars and are trained to ensure that all results of competition and livestock welfare are followed. During the timed events, each judge has a different role; during the roughstock events, the judges are on opposite sides of the cowboy and animal, watching for the cowboy’s control of the ride and how well his timing is synced with the animal’s bucking motion, among other scored aspects of a ride that can be different on the two sides.

Contract personnel. The noncontestant personnel working a rodeo include the bullfighters, who help bull riders escape from powerful rodeo bulls; the barrelmen, clowns and specialty acts, who entertain the crowds; pickup men, who help bareback and saddle bronc riders dismount, then prepare and assist bucking stock to leave the arena; announcers, who call the action; arena secretaries, who handle extensive administrative duties; and timers, who operate the clocks for the timed and roughstock events. Read more about some of these types of contract personnel in the Announcers, Clowns/Bullfighters/Barrelmen and Specialty Acts chapters of this book.

Committees. Local rodeo committees organize the PRCA-sanctioned rodeos held across the continent. Most are run by dedicated groups of volunteers who make the rodeos work from behind the scenes, procuring local sponsors for events, awards and programs; setting up safe facilities; staffing various functions and making the contestants and attendees feel at home. Many PRCA rodeos are broadly involved in their communities in both service and fundraising areas. For a list of 2018 PRCA-sanctioned rodeos by state, see the Records and Statistics chapter of this Media Guide.

Charities. PRCA-sanctioned rodeos annually raise more than $16 million for local and national charities, from college scholarships for local students to the Tough Enough to Wear Pink campaign against breast cancer. Contact the PRCA Media Department at 719.528.4772 for more information.

FanZone. The ProRodeo FanZone is the official membership program of the ProRodeo Hall of Fame. Depending on your membership level, benefits include: free entry into the HOF; a PSN subscription; FanZone member-only belt buckles; exclusive contests and giveaways and a welcome package containing a variety of FanZone merchandise and other exclusive items from PRCA national sponsors. Learn more at ProRodeoFanZone.com.

Sponsors. The PRCA’s loyal national sponsors support all aspects of rodeo, from entire events like the Wrangler NFR and RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo to the Montana Silversmiths gold buckles awarded to world champions each year. Read more in the PRCA National Partners chapter of this book. Sponsors also help defray the costs of producing rodeos and support contestants in their efforts to climb the ranks of ProRodeo.

Demographics. The PRCA’s loyal rodeo attendees across the U.S. are about 55 percent male and 45 percent female. More than 9.8 million fans earn an income of $75,000 and 77 percent use a smartphone. ProRodeo fans come from all walks of life, but as a group, they are demographically similar to NASCAR fans, and are likely to also enjoy hunting, fishing and camping.

ProRodeo.com. The PRCA maintains a website with the latest news stories, world standings, rodeo results, cowboy and livestock bios, and tons of other information. The PRCA also has a presence on YouTube, Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.

ProRodeoTV.com In 2018, the site had more than 2 million viewing hours during the Wrangler NFR alone. This past year the streaming platform provided live and on-demand coverage of circuit finals rodeos and Wrangler ProRodeo Tour rodeos, gaining a substantial audience around the world.

Television. Along with ProRodeo TV, CBS Sports Network telecasts all 10 performances of the Wrangler NFR each December. In 2019, ProRodeo TV will have 30 hours of premium content featuring each night on-demand in the U.S. and live for all international audiences. CBS, ProRodeo TV and the Wrangler Network will provide coverage of the Wrangler ProRodeo Tour. Visit ProRodeo.com to view a full schedule.
Cowboys decide which tours and series they want to participate in, then plan their rodeo entries and travel routes accordingly. Earnings at nearly all PRCA rodeos count toward the PRCA World Standings (within certain limits per event) and the 15 top-earning ProRodeo cowboys (per event) compete at the ultimate championship, the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo.

Wrangler National Finals Rodeo (NFR). The NFR, the sport’s richest and most prestigious rodeo, showcases the world’s best contestants and stock. The 10-day championship, held at the Thomas & Mack Center in Las Vegas every December, has enjoyed a sold-out attendance for 30 years. In 2018, 169,171 fans cheered 120 of rodeo’s superstars at the 60th NFR, in which $10 million was paid to contestants who won or placed in rounds or in the average – $10,000 each just for earning their way to Vegas. Cowboys earn their slots at the NFR based on their season earnings at most PRCA rodeos; the Top 15 earners in each event qualify for Las Vegas. Cowboys can count only a limited number of rodeos toward their NFR-qualifying earnings (bareback riding, 100; steer wrestling, 85; team roping, 65; saddle bronc riding, 100; tie-down roping, 85; bull riding, no limit), so experienced rodeo cowboys plan their competition seasons to maximize potential winnings and minimize travel expenses. Read more in the NFR chapter.

2019 PRORODEO Tour. The new tour consists of 55 rodeos. The tour standings are based off a points system for contestants at each qualifying tour rodeo. Points are distributed for placings 1-40 based on total dollars won at the conclusion of the rodeo. If less contestants win money and points are still available, after contestants with money won receive points, contestants without earned money are ranked (by total score/time and by highest total score/lowest total time) and assigned relevant remaining points. If there is a tie for any point position, points are evenly distributed between the tied positions, as is done with any payoff. Contestants are ranked in the standings from highest to lowest accumulated points. Points are not distributed for go-rounds, average or finals; points are not distributed to contestants with no score/time. The last rodeo of the PRORODEO Tour will be the Tour Finale in Puyallup, Wash. Sept. 5-8.
RAM Circuits. The PRCA divides the United States into 13 geographic areas or circuits. Cowboys compete for circuit points throughout the year by winning at rodeos within the circuit they choose at the beginning of a rodeo season. Top earners within each circuit compete at circuit finals, and those winners advance to the prestigious annual RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo in Kissimmee, Fla. The RAM NCFR field includes world champions as well as top regional cowboys. Likewise, the top four steer ropers from each of the six PRCA circuits compete at the National Circuit Finals Steer Roping in Torrington, Wyo., each year to determine the national circuit champion. The PRCA’s circuit system enables cowboys who are not full time, the chance to advance to those regional and national competitions. In 2018, the RAM NCFR again included contestants from the Mexican Rodeo Federation, bringing international competition and adding over $8,000 to the prize money at the championship event. Read more in the Circuit Information and Records chapter.

PRCA Xtreme Bulls Tour. Some of the best bull riders in the world fight to stay aboard some of the rankest bulls in the world at every stop of the PRCA Xtreme Bulls Tour. The PRCA’s bull-riding-only tour debuted in 2003. In 2018, it included six Division I events, 44 Division II events and a September championship in Ellensburg, Wash. Money earned at regular PRCA rodeos and PRCA Xtreme Bulls Tour events counts toward the PRCA | RAM World Standings and qualification for the NFR, but only money won at PRCA Xtreme Bulls Tour events can get cowboys into the Xtreme Bulls Tour Finale. Read more in the Xtreme Bulls Tour chapter.

PRCA Xtreme Broncs Tour. The tour is a series of events that features only saddle bronc riding competition. These stand-alone events were first approved by the PRCA in 2016. There will be approximately 20 U.S. stops in 2019. The Rapid City event will be the conclusion of the tour and will be nationally televised. The format: the Top 12 saddle bronc riders in the world standings and Top 12 contestants who have competed in the Xtreme Bronc Tour will compete in a short and long go for the Xtreme Broncs title and a portion of the $50,000 added money. All money earned on the tour and in the tour finale will count toward qualification for the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo.

Clem McSpadden National Finals Steer Roping. The Top 15 steer ropers in the PRCA based on PRCA | RAM World Standings at the end of the regular season head to their own national championship in November in Mulvane, Kan., which is a separate event from the NFR. Read more in the NFSR chapter.
Terminology

A-B

Added money: rodeo is different from most other sports in that it’s pay-to-play: at most rodeos, every contestant pays an entry fee, and those entry fees are part of the prize money for that event. Added money (also called the committee purse) is what the local rodeo committee may put in for each event, which in the long run usually comes from sponsors.

Average: usually used to describe the aggregate score for a contestant who competed in more than one round, e.g., “He had times of 9.3 and 9.8 seconds in the two rounds and placed third in the average with 19.1 seconds on two head.”

Barrelman: an entertainer who, after a bull ride, uses a barrel to distract the bull and protect the cowboy.

Barrier: in timed events, a line at the front of the box that the contestant and his horse cannot cross until the steer or calf has a head start, usually marked with a rope and a flag so the timers can see it drop and start the clock.

Box: in a timed event, the area a horse and rider back into before they make a roping or steer wrestling run.

Breaking the barrier: in the timed events, if the roper or steer wrestler leaves the box too soon – failing to give the animal enough of a head start – he or she is assessed a 10-second penalty.

Bronc rein: a saddle bronc rider holds onto a bronc rein, a six-foot braided rope, at a specific position that he determines based on the size and bucking habits of the horse he’s about to ride. Bronc riders often give each other advice about the best position for that handhold to allow the horse its best performance, e.g., “Give him 3½ fingers.”

Bullfighter: an athlete who protects the bull rider after he dismounts or is bucked off by distracting the bull and directing its attention to the exit gate, sometimes stepping between the bull and the bull rider.

Bulldogger: a steer wrestler.

C-D

Calf roper: a tie-down roper.

Chute: a pen that holds an animal safely in position.

Covering: in the roughstock events, staying on for at least the minimum time, eight seconds: “He covered all three broncs he rode last weekend.”

Crossfire penalty: in team roping, if the header doesn’t change the direction of the steer before the heeler catches, the run is disqualified.

Dally: in team roping, each roper, after throwing his loop, wraps the loose rope around his saddle horn – dallies – and the two ropers move their horses to face each other, pulling the ropes taut to stop the clock.
Terminology

Day money: a portion of the roughstock (usually bull riding) contestants’ entry fees that may be used as a separate per-performance payoff for a multi-performance rodeo. All bull riders who make a qualified ride during a paid performance are paid an equal share of the day money. If they also placed, they get prize money in addition to day money. If there are no qualified rides during a performance, the day money is added to the total payout for that event; day money counts toward the world standings.

Draw: each roughstock competitor who enters a PRCA rodeo is assigned a specific bucking horse or bull in a random draw conducted at PRCA headquarters three days before the rodeo; each timed-event contestant is assigned a calf or steer in a random draw on site, shortly before each performance of a rodeo begins.

Drop: in roughstock events, the way a bucking horse or bull may lower its front end suddenly while kicking out in back, creating a more difficult ride; in timed events, the way a calf or steer may lower its head to avoid a catch.

E–F

Equal money: many PRCA rodeos offer equal money in the team roping event, meaning that the committee adds the same amount to the purse for headers and heelers as for other contestants (rather than adding the same amount as the other events, to be shared by the two-person team).

Flags: judges in the arena drop flags to signal the timers to stop the clocks.

Flankman: a cowboy or cowgirl who works behind the bucking chutes, adjusting the flank strap around the animal before the ride. The best flankmen and women are familiar with each individual animal and know exactly how much flank to give that animal to encourage optimal bucking.

Flank strap: a soft sheepskin- or Neoprene-lined strap placed in the area where a human’s belt would go, it encourages the animal to kick out behind itself rather than rear up, providing a safer, showier ride.

G–H

Go-round: many rodeos have more than one round of competition. Each is called a go-round, and all cowboys entered in that rodeo compete in each go-round unless there is a semifinal, final or progressive round.

Gold Card member, life member: a 10-year, dues-paying member of the PRCA who has reached their 50th birthday, or a 20-year dues-paying member of any age.

Ground money: if not enough contestants qualify for the number of places to be paid, the money that would have been awarded for the remaining places is divided evenly among those contestants who did qualify (have a score or time). That money is considered ground money; in the bull riding only, it counts toward standings.

Hazer: in steer wrestling, the cowboy who rides on the right side of the steer to make sure the steer runs straight.

Header/heeler: the two partners in team roping – the header throws the first rope, over the animal’s head or horns, and the heeler throws the second rope to catch both the steer’s hind legs; roping only one leg results in a five-second penalty.
Terminology

Hooey: the knot that a cowboy uses to finish tying the calf’s legs together in tie-down roping

Hooking: a generic term for any contact a bull makes with his horns to a person, object or another animal

Hung up: when a bull rider or bareback rider cannot remove his hand from the rope or handle before he dismounts or is thrown off the bull’s or horse’s back. His hand is “hung up” – a dangerous situation – and the pickup men or bullfighters will move in to help dislodge his hand so he can get clear of the animal

I-M

Judges: as in other sports, trained PRCA judges ensure that all participants follow PRCA rules. They determine times for runs in the timed events and scores for rides in the roughstock events, record penalties for any infractions of the rules, and inspect the arena, chutes and livestock before each competition

Left (or right) delivery: many bucking animals prefer to stand in the chute facing a particular direction, so they can leave the chute in the direction they prefer

Mark out: in the bareback and saddle bronc riding, a cowboy’s feet must be above the point of the horse’s shoulders when the horse’s front feet hit the ground – if so, he “marked the horse out,” but if not, he “missed the horse out” and the ride is disqualified

N-R

Nodding: in the roughstock events, a cowboy nods when he is ready for the gateman to open the gate and the ride to begin. In the timed events, a cowboy nods when he is ready for the calf or steer to be released from the chute and get its head start

Penalty: in timed events, common penalties include 10 seconds for breaking the barrier and in team roping, five seconds for a one-hind-leg catch

Permit holder: a PRCA contestant who has not yet won their first $1,000 at PRCA rodeos and successfully applied to become a card-holding member of the organization

Pickup men: two mounted cowboys who help riders dismount, release a bucking horse’s soft flank strap, and escort bucking horses and bulls to the exit gate after a ride

Piggin’ string: in rodeo’s tie-down roping and steer roping events, the small rope used to tie the animal’s legs together. In the pasture, this technique immobilizes the animal so it can be “doctored”

Pigtail: a piece of string attached to the barrier that breaks if a timed-event contestant’s horse exits the box too soon, not giving the calf or steer enough of a head start according to PRCA rules. This is called “breaking the barrier”

Rank: an adjective of praise and respect used to describe especially challenging roughstock
Terminology

Reride: if a cowboy’s score is affected by equipment failure or a horse or bull that doesn’t buck to performance specifications, the judges may offer the cowboy a clean-slate chance on a different horse or bull

Riggin’: a suitcase-style handhold customized to a rider’s grip and attached to a molded piece of leather that is cinched, with a pad, around the horse’s girth

Rookie: a cowboy in his first year of card-holding PRCA membership

Ropes: the correct term is rope, not lasso, lariat or riata. Most ropes used in ProRodeo timed events are made of strong yet flexible braided materials such as nylon/poly blends, and a cowboy may change his rope selection depending on the weather and the cattle. Bull ropes and bronc reins are often made of sisal or poly blends

Roughstock: the bucking horses and bulls used in bareback riding, saddle bronc riding and bull riding. They are usually bred and raised for the job

S–Z

Score: in roughstock events, the points awarded for the difficulty of the ride (bucking) and the cowboy’s skill in riding. In timed events, the length of the head start given to the calf or steer, which the judges calculate based on PRCA rules. When used to describe a timed-event horse (“That mare scores well”), it refers to the horse’s obedience in staying in the box until the cowboy signals it to start the pursuit

Slack: excess entries at some rodeos may be scheduled for preliminary (slack) competition, usually before the rodeo opens to the public

Spurs: the spurs used in PRCA rodeos have several dulled rowels that do not penetrate the animals’ skin, which is several times thicker than human skin. See the PRCA and Livestock Welfare chapter for more information

Standings: a professional cowboy’s success is measured in earnings. Cowboys may keep track of where they rank in yearly earnings in several sets of standings

Stock contractors: the companies that bring livestock to the arena for rodeos – bucking horses and bulls for the roughstock events and steers and calves for the timed events

Timed events: steer wrestling, team roping, tie-down roping and steer roping – events in which the contestant(s) who make the fastest qualified runs win

Triple Crown winner: a multi-event cowboy who wins three world championships in the same year. The most recent cowboy to do so was Trevor Brazile in 2008 and 2010

Try: a noun used for both cowboys and livestock, denoting grit, determination, fitness, stamina and resilience: “Give that cowboy a hand – he had a lot of try.”

Turn out: a cowboy may turn out of a rodeo if, for example, he has a scheduling conflict. This is different from “doctor-releasing” due to injury
Bareback riding

Bareback riding is one of the most physically demanding events in rodeo. A bareback rider sits directly on a bucking horse, with only his own “riggin’” to hang onto. As the horse comes out of the chute, the cowboy’s feet must be above the break of the horse’s shoulders. He holds his feet up at least through the horse’s first move, usually a jump, then spurs the horse on each jump, matching the horse’s rhythm and showing control rather than flopping around. He may not touch the horse, his equipment or himself with his free hand. If the ride lasts eight seconds, two judges award up to 25 points each for the cowboy’s “exposure” to the strength of the horse and his spurring technique and up to 25 points each for the horse’s bucking strength and moves.

Steer wrestling

Steer wrestling demands coordination between two mounted cowboys – the contestant and a hazer who controls the steer’s direction – and their horses. The cowboys back their horses into the box on each side of the steer. When the contestant nods, the chute gate opens and the steer gets a head start before the cowboys start to chase him. As the steer wrestler draws even, he dismounts from his horse, which is moving at perhaps 30 miles an hour. He grasps the steer’s horns and digs his boot heels into the dirt to slow down the 500- to 600-pound steer. Then he wrestles the steer onto its side; when all four legs point in the same direction, the clock stops. Times vary widely depending on the size of the arena.

Team roping

Team ropers work as partners: one header and one heeler who move in precise coordination. They and their horses start in the “box.” When the header nods, the chute gate opens and the steer gets a head start. The header throws the first loop, which must catch the steer’s head or horns, protected by a horn wrap. Then the header dallies – wraps his rope around his saddle horn – and moves his horse to pull the rope taut, changing the direction of the steer. That gives the heeler the opportunity to catch both of the steer’s hind legs with his own rope; most heelers try to time their throws to catch the legs when they are in the air. After the catch, the heeler also dallies, to stop the steer. When the ropes are taut and both horses face the steer, the time is recorded. Times vary widely depending on the size of the arena.

Saddle bronc riding

In rodeo’s classic event, the saddle bronc rider sits on a specialized saddle – it has no horn, and the stirrups are set forward. In the chute, the cowboy adjusts his grip on the rein and perhaps the horse’s position. When the gate opens, his boots must be above the breaks of the horse’s shoulders. After the horse’s first move, usually a jump, the cowboy begins spurring in long, smooth strokes, in sync with the horse’s jumps – legs straight when the bronc comes down, toward the back of the saddle at the top of the jump. His only handhold is a six-foot braided rope; his free hand may not touch his equipment, his body or the horse. If the ride lasts the required eight seconds, it is scored by two judges – one on each side – who assess difficulty and control. Each judge awards up to 25 points for the cowboy’s performance and up to 25 points for the animal’s performance, for a potential of 100 points.

Tie-down roping

To start this sprinting event, the tie-down roper and his horse back into the box; the cowboy carries a rope in one hand and a “piggin’ string” in his mouth. When the cowboy nods, the chute opens and the calf gets a head start. The cowboy throws a loop over its head; his horse stops and pulls the rope taut while the cowboy jumps off, dashes down the rope, lays the calf on the ground and uses the piggin’ string to tie any three of its legs together. Then he lifts his hands to show he is finished, and the field flag judge drops a flag to stop the clock. The horse is trained to keep the rope taut until the cowboy remounts and moves the horse toward the calf, giving the rope slack. If the calf’s legs stay tied correctly for six seconds, it’s a qualified run and the time stands.
Barrel racing
Barrel racing is just that – a race against time in a cloverleaf pattern around three barrels set up in the arena. A rider can choose to begin the cloverleaf pattern to the right or left. The time begins when the horse and rider cross the predetermined start line and stops when they come back across the same line. Each run is timed to the hundredths of a second, making every fraction of a second count. (Starting in 2012, Canadian rodeos now time to the thousandth of a second.) Each tipped-over barrel adds a five-second penalty to the time. Although barrel racing is one of seven events common to many PRCA-sanctioned rodeos, it is administered by a separate organization, the Women’s Professional Rodeo Association, which produces its own online media guide.

Bull riding
Bull riding is rodeo’s most dangerous event. In the chute, the bull rider settles on the bull’s back, wraps his braided rope around the bull’s girth, then loops the rope around his hand and back into his palm so he can grip it tightly. When he nods, the gate is opened and the bull lunges out of the chute. Spurring is optional – the primary goal for the cowboy is to stay on for eight seconds without touching himself, his equipment or the bull with his free hand. The cowboy will be scored highly for staying in the middle of the bull, in full control of the ride. If the ride lasts the required eight seconds, it is scored by two judges who assess difficulty (the bull’s spinning, jumping and kicking, lunging, rearing and dropping, and side-to-side motion) as well as the cowboy’s degree of control. Each judge awards up to 25 points for the cowboy’s performance and up to 25 points for the animal’s performance, for a potential of 100 points.

Steer roping
Some PRCA rodeos include steer roping, which resembles tie-down roping but requires the cowboy to catch and control a large steer (about 450-600 lbs.). The mounted cowboy backs into the box and nods when he’s ready; the steer gets a head start, just as the calf does in tie-down roping. The cowboy must catch the steer by first roping it around the horns, which are protected by horn wraps and reinforced with rebar. Then he tosses the rope over the steer’s right hip and rides to the left, bringing the steer to the ground, a frontier technique modern ranch cowboys still use to bring down full-grown steers that need medical attention. When the steer is lying on its side and the rope is taut, the rider dismounts and runs to the steer, tying any three of its legs. As in tie-down roping, the steer’s legs must remain tied for six seconds after the tie is complete and the roper remounts his horse.

All-around
Many cowboys compete in more than one event. Some rodeo committees award a special prize to the top money-earner among all the cowboys who entered more than one event at their rodeos, starting with the cowboy who won the most money in two or more events – the all-around champion, a prestigious title indeed.

PLANNED FOR 2019

- 176 live rodeo performances
- 450 hours of streaming content
- 30 hours of premium content during the Wrangler NFR (on-demand in the U.S. and live for all international audiences)

HOW DOES IT WORK?

> ProRodeoTV is a subscriber-based digital platform wholly owned by the PRCA membership. Annual subscriptions are $79.99, or monthly for $9.99. Annual subscriptions include Wrangler NFR. It is hosted by CBS Interactive and features both livestream rodeo action as well as archived programs.

HAS IT BEEN SUCCESSFUL?

> The site had more than 2 million viewing hours during the 2018 NFR alone. The streaming platform provided live and on-demand coverage of circuit finals rodeos and Wrangler ProRodeo tours throughout the year, gaining a substantial audience around the world. In 2018, more than 12,000 fans subscribed for ProRodeo TV livestreams.

WHAT OTHER ACCESS DOES A PRORODEO TV SUBSCRIPTION PROVIDE?

> In addition to livestreams, there are 60 years of PRCA archives converted to digital format on ProRodeo TV, including the inaugural NFR in 1959. Video on demand access includes recent PRCA episodes from the CBS Sports Network, the 2018 NFR, archives of NFR and regular season, the best of rodeo video and other shorts and features. Content of this nature will continue to be added and rotated on a regular basis.
With a new year comes a new tour for PRCA cowboys to compete in for the 2019 season.

The new tour consists of 55 rodeos. The tour standings are based off a points system for contestants at each qualifying tour rodeo. Points are distributed for placings 1-40 based on total dollars won at the conclusion of the rodeo. Contestants are ranked in the standings from highest to lowest accumulated points. Points are not distributed for go-rounds, average or finals; points are not distributed to contestants with no score/time.

ProRodeoTV.com, the Wrangler Network and CBS Sports Network will broadcast tour rodeos. Visit ProRodeo.com for a complete schedule.

2019 Tour
Some say that rodeo was born in 1869 when two groups of cowboys from neighboring ranches met in Deer Trail, Colo., to settle an argument over who was the best at performing everyday cowboy tasks, including breaking wild horses to ride for ranch work – a common cowboy task that evolved into rodeo’s saddle bronc riding event.

That informal gathering is considered by many to be the first rodeo – the beginning of a true American sport, based on the needs and customs of those who settled the great American West. Spanish-speaking cowboys, vaqueros, and the more recently arrived cowboys from the eastern part of the country contributed different skills and techniques to the cowboy toolbox.

Breaking horses for their own use was just one part of a cowboy’s job. Capturing calves and full-grown cattle for branding, medical attention and sale required finely honed roping and riding skills on the sprawling, often inhospitable terrain of frontier ranches – skills that were tested and contested in events that led to today’s tie-down roping, team roping and steer roping.

Today’s professional rodeo cowboy is a bit different from his predecessor from the 1800s, although the traditional ideals of sportsmanship, showmanship and mentorship are still valued by today’s competitors. A cowboy’s standing in the sport of rodeo still depends on his skill with a rope or his ability to ride a bucking animal, his toughness in the face of setbacks, and his gratitude and humility about the success he achieves. His standing in the rodeo community still depends on his adherence to the cowboy code, which dictates that a man helps his fellow competitors even when they are competing for the same paycheck and teach what they know to younger cowboys.

Yet some aspects of rodeo have changed since those early days. Many professional cowboys travel in comfortable trucks or custom-made rigs, or they fly from one rodeo to another by commercial airline or charter plane. Marketing and business acumen have become as crucial as roping, wrestling or riding skills as contestants compete for more money than ever before.

Whether a PRCA member spends more than 200 days a year on the road in hopes to qualify for the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo or works another job and only competes in regional rodeos on the weekends – he is likely to take his wife and children along whenever possible, helping to keep the sport close to its family-oriented roots.

Until the turn of the century, early rodeos were informal events – exhibition matches of skill, with nothing but pride and perhaps a few dollars at stake. But as audiences grew, promoters began to organize annual contests in specific locations as well as traveling Western shows.

Rodeo organizations remained fragmented until the late 1920s, when the Rodeo Association of America, comprised of rodeo committees and promoters from across the U.S., named its first champions. The first true national cowboys’ organization emerged in 1936, when a group of cowboys and cowgirls left a performance at Madison Square Garden and boycotted the promoter’s next rodeo, in Boston Garden. They forced one of the biggest rodeo producers of the times, Col. W.T. Johnson, to listen to their demands for better prize money and judges who understood rodeo. Johnson gave in and the Cowboys’ Turtle Association was born – a name they picked because they had been slow to act, but had finally stuck their necks out for their cause.

In 1945, the Turtles became the Rodeo Cowboys Association (RCA), which in 1975 evolved into the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association. The PRCA has experienced tremendous growth in terms of membership, national exposure, media coverage and sanctioned rodeos. Today, the PRCA boasts nearly 7,000 members (4,692 of whom are currently contestants) and sanctions just over 600 rodeos a year. The PRCA headquarters in Colorado Springs, Colo., which includes the ProRodeo Hall of Fame and Museum of the American Cowboy, opened in 1979.

In 2018, more than $49 million was paid out in prize money at PRCA rodeos, a figure the Turtles might never have dreamed possible. Fans keep up to date with their favorite athletes by subscribing to the PRCA’s ProRodeo Sports News magazine, watching livestreamed PRCA events, logging on to www.ProRodeo.com and following the PRCA’s social media platforms.
Before ProRodeo, there was...

1869: The first amateur rodeo is held in Deer Trail, Colo.
1880s-1890s: A number of Western towns hold their first professional rodeos with cash prizes, including Prescott, Ariz.; Pecos, Texas; Payson, Ariz.; Denver, Colo.; North Platte, Neb.; and Cheyenne, Wyo.
1920s: The Rodeo Association of America, comprised of rodeo committees and promoters, banded together to create contests that would lead to the sport’s first national champions.

1936: By joining ranks to boycott a rodeo in Boston, a group of cowboys and cowgirls forced the promoter to improve judging and increase the prize money. They picked the name Cowboys’ Turtle Association in reflection of the fact that they had been slow to act, but had finally stuck their necks out for their cause.

1947: Succeeding the CTA, the Rodeo Cowboys Association begins implementing rules regarding rodeo livestock welfare. Today, the PRCA enforces 60 rules that govern the care and treatment of the livestock participating in PRCA-sanctioned events.

1959: The PRCA develops its first true national championship event, the National Finals Rodeo; it’s held in Dallas the first three years, then in Los Angeles for three years, then in Oklahoma City from 1965-84.

1979: The PRCA opens a new national headquarters in the foothills near Pikes Peak, America’s Mountain, in Colorado Springs, Colo. – where it remains today.

1985: The National Finals Rodeo moves to the Thomas & Mack Center on the University of Nevada (Las Vegas) campus, where the prize purse has grown from $1.79 million in 1985 to $10 million in 2015 and the event has been virtually sold out every year.

2003: The PRCA develops the Xtreme Bulls Tour to pit its best bull riders against its rankest bulls.

2018: The PRCA sanctions 644 rodeos with a total payout of $49 million, and has 4,618 contestant members.

Chief Executive Officer

George Taylor, CEO of the PRCA

CEO George Taylor has a diverse business background, including extensive executive experience with top global companies IBM and Caterpillar. He joined the PRCA in January 2018.

George and his team are working hard to unify membership to deliver their Vision of the future of PRORODEO.

The Vision: We Are PRORODEO! The best cowboys; the best rodeos; delivering the best fan experience while positively impacting our communities and embracing the Spirit of the West.

Key strategic initiatives:

- We must be known by our growing fan base as the undisputed best.
- We must improve and expand “Digital Experiences.”
- We must drive growth within the sport of PRORODEO.
- We must have the best team, culture, and personnel practices to deliver for our fans.

The Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association, its members, sponsors, and charities thank you for your continued support of this great sport.

PROCOM
The Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) is deeply committed to the proper care and treatment of the livestock used in rodeo. As an association, the PRCA:

- Has established rules and regulations governing livestock welfare.
- Created an animal welfare committee to assist in the association's efforts to ensure proper care of livestock.
- Educates its membership regarding best practices for livestock handling.
- Monitors compliance with its livestock welfare rules and regulations.
- Educates the public and elected officials about the care provided to rodeo livestock.
- Networks with other organizations about best livestock practices and policies.
- Works proactively with rodeo committees, stock contractors, contestants and veterinarians to ensure all livestock at PRCA rodeos are being handled properly.

PRCA Rules

The PRCA first began implementing rules to ensure proper care and treatment of rodeo livestock in 1947. Today, the PRCA enforces more than 70 rules that govern the care and treatment of the livestock participating in PRCA-sanctioned events. The PRCA continuously encourages all rodeo associations to adopt similar rules. The rules are enforced by professional judges who attend each PRCA-sanctioned rodeo performance. Punishments range from fines to disqualification.

Specific rules protecting the animals govern use of the cattle prod, require a conveyance to transport injured animals, require the facilities to be free of hazards to the animals and require the animals to be inspected before each performance; any animals not in top condition will not perform.

Livestock Welfare Surveys

Among the most valuable tools used by the PRCA Livestock Welfare department are the periodic surveys it receives from independent veterinarians who are on site at PRCA rodeos, assisting the local rodeo committees with all livestock-related issues while serving as the rodeo veterinarians. Many of these veterinarians also assist the PRCA by participating in the survey, reporting to the PRCA the condition of the rodeo livestock and facilities.

Outreach

The PRCA has successfully built up its livestock welfare program to serve as a model to all rodeo associations. All PRCA-sanctioned rodeos have rules governing the care and handling of the livestock, and the PRCA regularly meets with other associations to network about rules, handling policies and other livestock welfare initiatives. Reaching beyond the rodeo world to other agricultural and animal use organizations is another important component of the PRCA livestock welfare program.

Education

The PRCA livestock welfare education program works with not only the PRCA membership, but also the public, media, fans and elected officials. The internal education program focuses on informing members about animal health issues and advances in livestock welfare practices. Externally, the program distributes factual information regarding the care and handling of rodeo livestock and answers inquiries from any interested people or organizations.
PRCA and Livestock Welfare

What you should know about the PRCA and rodeo livestock:

• The average bucking horse or bucking bull works less than five minutes a year in the arena.

• Rodeo livestock have long and healthy lives. Many of today’s top bucking horses are 20 years of age or older, and many bulls are active buckers at age 15. Veterinarians attribute these long, healthy life spans to good care, quality feed and adequate exercise.

• PRCA rules prohibit the use of sharpened spurs and other implements that could harm an animal.

• Human skin is one to two millimeters thick; horse hide is five millimeters thick; bull hide is seven millimeters thick.

• Stock contractors invest a great deal of money in their breeding and purchase programs. Many contractors pay up to five or even six figures for a top-rated bucking animal.

• Both bulls and horses have natural bucking tendencies. Many do so while playing together in pastures, just as horses naturally race each other. What makes an animal a candidate for rodeo livestock is the absolute determination to buck if something is on its back.

• PRCA rules require flank straps to be lined with fleece or neoprene in the flank area (similar to a human waist). Flank straps are tightened just enough to encourage the animal to kick behind itself instead of hopping around the arena. Overtightening would result in the animal’s refusal to move at all, much less buck. Flank straps do not contact an animal’s genitals.

PRCA Veterinarian of the Year

2018 PRCA Veterinarian of the Year
“(Rodeo stock) Their welfare requires kindness with tender love and care. They are athletes and are bred to be an athlete, so you have to treat them as one. You can’t man handle them because they are too strong. You must handle them with finesse. I appreciate them, and they have to be cared for properly.”

2010 Dr. Bill Anderson, Southwestern Exposition and Livestock Show, Fort Worth, Texas
2011 Dr. Garth Lamb, Wrangler National Finals Rodeo, Las Vegas, Nev.
2012 Dr. Jake Wells, San Antonio (Texas) Stock Show & Rodeo
2013 Dr. Joe Coli, Reno (Nev.) Rodeo
2014 Dr. Fred Rule, Elk City, Okla.
2015 Dr. John Boyington, Phillipsburg, Kan.
2016 Dr. Marty Tanner, Elgin, Texas
2017 Dr. Jerry Billquist, Boerne, Texas
Veterinarians

“I’m convinced that the PRCA stands at the forefront of humane livestock treatment.”

– Dr. Jerry Billquist, DVM

“Stock contractors and rodeo committees are constantly discussing animal welfare, trying to make sure that livestock get the comfort and care they deserve, so that they will perform at their best as athletes.”

– Dr. John Wenzel, DVM

“Bucking horses have a little draft horse in them, so they have huge bones, stout musculature, big feet, strong ligaments … they hardly ever have any problems.”

– Dr. Jake Wells, DVM

Stock Contractors

“Like a football coach, a stock contractor can tell when one of their players (animals) is getting tired and isn’t playing up to standards.”

– Heath Stewart, ranch manager of Frontier Rodeo (2015-18 PRCA Stock Contractor of the Year)

“If I left a loading chute and a truck in the pasture, the trailer would be full of horses all the time, waiting and wanting to go.”

– Jim Korkow, PRCA stock contractor

“Our horses are bred to buck – we don’t train that. But we do take our baby colts to the rodeo, so they learn from their moms how to get on and off the truck and how to get sorted in the pens. We also make sure they get used to ‘rolling ahead’ through the chutes. The older horses teach the younger horses everything else they need to know.”

– Sparky Dreesen, PRCA stock contractor and former PRCA saddle bronc rider
Now in its 30th year, the Justin Cowboy Crisis Fund remains dedicated to giving a helping hand to injured rodeo competitors and their families. Any rodeo athlete (contestant, pickup man, clown or bullfighter) who is injured while participating in or traveling to or from a rodeo can apply for assistance.

The JCCF helps injured rodeo athletes pay everyday living expenses, such as rent or mortgage, car insurance and grocery bills – costs that aren’t covered by medical or accident insurance. The assistance is aimed at helping injured cowboys avoid hardship until they are able to return to competition or earn a living.

In 1989, John Justin, head of the Justin Boot Company at the time; 16-time world champion cowboy Jim Shoulders; and then-Justin Boot Company executive Frank Scivetti were talking with friends about the plight of the injured rodeo cowboy. The businessmen decided they had to do something to help, and that’s when the idea of the Justin Cowboy Crisis Fund was conceived. With Justin leading the way, the concept of a cowboy “safety net” was proposed to the PRCA. In 1990, the JCCF was incorporated.

In 2018, the JCCF assisted 49 injured rodeo athletes and their families with $500,000.

A 501(c)(3) charitable organization, the JCCF operates entirely through contributions from the rodeo community, as well as from private and corporate donors.

Funding comes from rodeo committees and other groups and individuals who organize fundraisers such as barbecues, auctions, golf tournaments and trail rides; many contestants who receive help from the JCCF later hold fundraisers to support it. The largest fundraiser each year is the Pro Rodeo League of Women Luncheon and Style Show, held at the Las Vegas South Point Hotel, Casino and Spa, which has raised $1.8 million for the fund – $80,000 in 2018.

Additionally, many contributions come in as honorary or memorial donations. The fund remains highly unusual among charitable organizations in that 100 percent of the donations received go to eligible applicants. This is made possible in large part by the Justin Boot Company and PRCA teaming up to cover 100 percent of administrative costs like postage and printing, leaving all money received through donations to serve their intended purpose of helping injured rodeo athletes.

Contributions are tax-deductible and may be made online at www.justincowboycrisisfund.org or mailed to JCCF at 101 Pro Rodeo Drive, Colorado Springs, CO 80919. For additional information, call 888.662.5223 or e-mail jccfinfo@prorodeo.com.
Youth Outreach

The PRCA continues to support and reach out to young people who are interested in participating in professional rodeo, whether as contestants, bullfighters or contract acts. Those outreach efforts take several forms:

RODEO CAMPS
For roughstock contestants, one of the best decisions they might make during their years on junior high, high school and/or college rodeo teams is to attend at least one free PRCA Championship Rodeo Camp. Camp curriculum includes an introduction to roughstock events with an emphasis on safety, fundamentals, chute procedures, livestock safety, fitness and goal setting – all in a fun, positive atmosphere. Instructors deliver encouragement to participants as they pursue both their rodeo careers and scholastic endeavors.

In 2018, 15 camps were held in towns throughout the U.S.; 656 youth participated, along with a number of ProRodeo champions who provided instruction and mentoring. The camps are free, thanks to sponsorships, contributions from PRCA members and the hard work of rodeo committee volunteers.

PERMIT PROGRAM
The PRCA annually subsidizes the entire dues portion of PRCA permit certificates for College National Finals Rodeo champions, High School National Finals Rodeo champions, National High School Rodeo Association state champions, and Little Britches National Finals Rodeo champions/senior boys division (permit holders must still pay for insurance and the event rep fee). In 2018, 454 permits were awarded.

SPONSORSHIP
The PRCA is a sponsor of the National Collegiate, National High School and National Little Britches rodeo associations and, through those organizations, has offered educational sessions to their members aimed at smoothing the transition to ProRodeo and developing successful PRCA competitors.

PERMIT CHALLENGE
The Permit Member of the Year Challenge has operated as a standalone rodeo since 2014. The top 5 permit members at the end of the 2018 regular season in the six standard PRCA events were invited to compete on Dec. 6, 2018 at the South Point Equestrian Center in Las Vegas. The 2018 PRCA Permit Member of the Year Challenge Champions were:

- Bareback riding – Jesse Pope, Marshall, Mo.
- Steer wrestling – Gavin Soileau, Bunkie, La.
- Team roping – Justin Farber, Battle Ground, Wash., and Brushton Minton, Witter Springs, Calif.
- Saddle bronc riding – Tegan Smith, Winterset, Iowa
- Bull riding – Stetson Wright, Beaver, Utah

Permit standings are printed in the ProRodeo Sports News and available on ProRodeo.com and the PRCA app.

SOCIAL MEDIA POLICY

To view the most up-to-date version of the Social Media Policy please visit ProRodeo.com/social-media-policy

The PRCA believes the engagement provided through social media platforms benefits the organization, enhances the fan enjoyment and generally promotes the sport of rodeo. To maintain the integrity of the membership and its cowboys, the PRCA developed a social media policy.

This policy is intended to serve as a guideline to keep the PRCA along its ascending path in both growth and mainstream popularity. The rules outlined are in accordance with many other professional sports organizations and the PRCA’s Bylaws that govern the sport.

We encourage the continued use of social media by the PRCA membership, our athletes and our enthusiastic fans to promote the PRCA and the sport of rodeo in a positive way.

Membership, cowboys, and fans are asked to abide by the following rules:

• The PRCA has a 90-second time limit on competition video content taken either by a contestant or a fan. This is 90 seconds of competition video, total, per rodeo performance or slack performance.
• 90 seconds of competition video may be accomplished through live or recorded means but the competition action may not exceed the allowed number of seconds.
• Any video live or recorded off of a televised or official live-streamed program, broadcast on social media, is strictly prohibited.
• Video clips collected at PRCA rodeos is for personal use only and may not be sold, repurposed or otherwise used for commercial purposes without licensing by the PRCA.
• PRCA marks including logos and taglines may not be used in a way that portrays any post or video as an official communication of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association.
• Videos found exceeding the 90 seconds of competition video rule on any platform, or utilized for commercial purposes without permission, will be removed without warning.

The PRCA may revise these rules from time to time. The rules are governed by PRCA Bylaws and by the laws of the State of Colorado without regard to or application of its conflict of law provisions or your state or country of residence.
The colorful history and equally colorful legends of professional rodeo live on at the ProRodeo Hall of Fame and Museum of the American Cowboy in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Since the Hall’s opening in 1979, 275 people, 35 animals and 30 rodeo committees have been inducted. More than 100 individuals are nominated each year, but only a few are selected. The 2019 induction will be held Aug. 1-3; contact the ProRodeo Hall of Fame for event information.

In 2018, new cases were installed to house the permanent exhibits of the WPRA Barrel Racing inductees and to provide additional space for future honorees.

“We have made some great improvements in the Hall over the past couple of years, from much-needed repairs and maintenance to the buildings and grounds to updated displays and exhibits,” says the Hall’s director, Kent Sturman. “The exhibits featured in the 101 Gallery rotate every few months, which allows museum guests to enjoy many artifacts in our own collection as well as allowing us to showcase local artists and other rodeo exhibits.”

Also in 2018, the Hall purchased History IT, a collections data software and transferred the files from all 21,689 artifacts into a new digital collection that will allow for viewing on the website. The Hall is in the process of digitizing its entire media collection, which is now 80 percent complete.

Each year more than 25,000 visitors tour the Hall, which offers exhibits that detail the changes in saddles, chaps, hats and other rodeo equipment over the decades as well as separate exhibits for many of ProRodeo’s luminaries.

Hall of Fame guests start their tour in the Hall of Champions, which features exhibits on notable cowboys in each event, current world champions, famous stock contractors, rodeo queens, clowns, bullfighters and other rodeo personnel. They often finish their tour in the Hall’s gorgeous gardens, featuring beautiful bronze sculptures depicting rodeo events and champions, with perhaps a look at the Priefert-supplied arena where the Commissioner’s Classic team ropings are held each summer. Guests touring the Hall during the summer can also enjoy visiting retired rodeo roughstock who make their homes in the Zoetis Barn across from the Hall’s sculpture gardens and adjacent to the Priefert-Ed Honen Arena.

Located on a 13-acre site tucked against the foothills of Pikes Peak in Colorado Springs, the Hall of Fame is easily identifiable from Interstate 25 by a landmark bronze statue of Hall of Fame saddle bronc rider Casey Tibbs on the famous horse Necktie.

To reach the ProRodeo Hall of Fame from northbound I-25: take exit 148; turn left on Rockrimmon Boulevard; turn left at the second light, Pro Rodeo Drive, then follow the Hall of Fame sign and turn into the first driveway on the left. From southbound I-25: exit 148 and continue south through the first light (Corporate Drive); at the second light, turn right onto Rockrimmon Blvd.; turn left at the second light, which is Pro Rodeo Drive, then follow the Hall of Fame sign and turn into the first driveway on the left. For the Hall’s seasonal hours of operation and additional information about special events, log on to www.ProRodeoHallofFame.com.

Since its inception in the mid-1950s, the Miss Rodeo America Pageant has blossomed into one of the premier events held in conjunction with the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo.

Last December in Las Vegas, 28 young women represented their states, competing in multiple events over several days to determine the 2019 Miss Rodeo America at the 64th annual Miss Rodeo America Pageant. The women showcased their talents in horsemanship by riding unfamiliar horses that belong to PRCA stock contractors; in public speaking by delivering extemporaneous speeches, answering impromptu questions, and undergoing both personal, media and horsemanship interviews; and in modeling Western fashions. The women are also judged on personality, appearance, knowledge of rodeo and ability to share their enthusiasm for it, and their photogenic qualities.

With a capacity crowd on hand at the MGM Grand Hotel and Casino, 23-year-old Taylor McNair of Learned, Miss., won the crown.

International Rodeo Management (IRM) developed the concept of a Miss Rodeo America Pageant in 1955. The group recognized that royalty had been a part of rodeo since the sport's pioneer days, and they visualized an opportunity to promote rodeo and the Western way of life through an attractive, intelligent young woman who could represent rodeo to the public. A three-member committee established the contest guidelines and rules for selecting the first lady of professional rodeo.

The first Miss Rodeo America Pageant, with nine young women vying for the title, took place in 1955 in Casper, Wyo. In 1956, the pageant moved to Chicago. The following year, it moved again, this time to San Francisco, where Miss Rodeo America 1958 was crowned during the Grand National Rodeo.

The still-infant organization made another move in 1959: to Las Vegas, where many of the hotels played host to the pageant during the 1960s and 1970s. In 1990, after several moves between Oklahoma and Las Vegas, the pageant returned to Las Vegas, where it is still held today.

In January 1992, the organization reincorporated in Colorado as Miss Rodeo America Inc. and was officially recognized by the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association as the sole entity to select Miss Rodeo America.

The pageant reached another milestone in 1992 when $30,000 in scholarships were awarded to contestants. In 1995, for the first and only time in the history of the pageant, Miss Rodeo America Pageant contestants took part in the opening ceremonies of the Wrangler NFR at the Thomas & Mack Center in Las Vegas. In 1998, the Miss Rodeo America Scholarship Foundation was incorporated to handle scholarships for the organization, which have grown to $99,500 in education funding for contestants.

Brazile earns 14th all-around title

One of the most decorated rodeo careers in PRCA history ended on a high note.

Trevor Brazile won his 14th PRCA-record All-Around gold buckle a few weeks after announcing that the 2018 season marked the last time he would rodeo full time. He now has an abbreviated schedule so he can spend more time with his family.

"The first question everybody wants to ask is you can’t go out now," he said at the end of the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo. "But the competitor in me, this is the only way to go out. I hadn’t roped well this week, and I ended up with three round wins. But I also ended up with three two loops, and that’s the most I’ve ever had. It was a special night. Winning doesn’t make it harder for me to walk away, it makes it easier because that’s the way I wanted to go out."

With so much money on the table, Brazile was in a three-way race for the all-around with his brother-in-law Tuf Cooper and Wrangler NFR first-timer Rhen Richard.

"It’s a really unique situation because I love him (Cooper) so much, and I’m his biggest fan too," Brazile said. "It’s a crazy dynamic that we’ve lived for so long, but I can’t wait to just sit back and be able to watch him instead of competing against him."

Going into Round 10, Brazile trailed Cooper by $12,331 in the all-around race. Winning the round with a 7.2-second run and earning $26,231 was the deciding factor.

Brazile finished with $335,680 to hold off Cooper ($310,357) and Richard ($274,724).

"When I came into Round 10, I was honestly so thankful that I had another chance," Brazile said. "I had to win the round and do some certain things, but it was at least a chance, and as a competitor that’s all you can ask for."

Brazile’s victory boiled down to the 7.2-second tie-down roping run he made in Round 10.

"I’m just thankful for second chances," he said. "I’m a living testimony that hard work pays off. There are more guys with natural talent out there, I will be the first to admit it. For everybody who is thinking about being a champion in their field, they need to know that hard work pays off. It will surpass everything in the end."

His all-around accumulation in 2018 came from $194,297 in tie-down roping, $105,118 in steer roping and $52,143 in team roping heading.

At the 2018 Wrangler NFR, Brazile won his 14th all-around world championship, 24th gold buckle and 71st career go-round win.
Tim O’Connell spent the 2018 regular season proving he could battle back from whatever rodeo threw at him. He had no trouble doing the same at the 60th Wrangler National Finals Rodeo.

O’Connell won his third straight bareback riding world championship after his final ride in 2018 (at the Wrangler NFR), winning with $319,801.

“It’s surreal,” said O’Connell, 27. “It was a battle from Day 1. The season started slow, it picked up. It was a fight through the end of the season. It came down to me leaving it all on the line when it came down to the 10th round.”

In his two prior seasons, the Zwingle, Iowa, cowboy held leads of $40,668 (in 2016) and $65,259 (2017). His lead heading into the 2018 Wrangler NFR was nowhere near those numbers. O’Connell’s lead before Round 1 kicked off was $14,822.

He lost the top spot after Round 7; it took a Round 9-win (a 90-point ride on Cervi Championship Rodeo’s Vitalix Ain’t No Angel) for O’Connell to regain the lead. He held that lead through Round 10, earning a split of the average and his third consecutive gold buckle.

Only seven bareback riders have won four or more world championships.

His Wrangler NFR performance was something he fought internally throughout the Finals. It wasn’t until Round 9 O’Connell believed he was on track. He finished by splitting the average with Steven Dent with 849.5 points on 10 head.

“I had plenty of sleepless nights, anxiety and was sick to my stomach wondering what’s going on out here,” said O’Connell, who also won Round 3 with an 88.5-point ride on Powder River Rodeo’s Craig at Midnight.

“I had this peace about me going into the second eliminator round, and I feel I came and shined at that point. I felt I was backed into a corner and God told me to fight – and I fought.”

All those challenges, plus the enjoyment of his first child, son, Hazen, made title No. 3 special. O’Connell said he will feel that every time he dons his new buckle.

“I wear them all,” he said. “I got a belt made last year that had a 2x on it. I’m going to get a belt made this year that’s going to have a 3x on it. And I’m going to hang it. People ask, ‘Why don’t you keep that in a safe?’ This is something cherished to me. I live for these moments. I live to come out on top, and I’m doing everything in my power to be the best in the world. I want my son to see this. I want my family to see this. I’m very proud of these buckles, and I’m going to show them to the world.”

Tyler Waguespack is once again the king of PRCA’s steer wrestlers.

The Gonzales, La., cowboy won his second world championship in the last three years with a memorable run Dec. 15 at the 2018 Wrangler National Finals.

Waguespack won the gold buckle by earning $260,013 ($180,429 of that at the Wrangler NFR), the most of any steer wrestler.

Waguespack won the average and world championship, just like he did in 2016.

“This feels just like the first one, and this one feels incredible,” he said. “We worked hard all year long and it paid off in the end.”

Waguespack arrived in Las Vegas ranked 10th in the PRCA | RAM World Standings with $79,584, but he rocketed to the top by placing in six rounds and winning Rounds 1 and 8.

“This takes hours and hours of practice, great horsepower and great traveling partners,” he said.

Heading into Round 10, Waguespack was leading the world standings by $4,389 over regular-season leader Curtis Cassidy. The X-factor for Waguespack was that he was leading the average, while Cassidy was tied for 11th and out of the average money.

By Round 10, all Waguespack needed to do to secure the world title was catch his steer. That way, he would finish at least third in the average and earn at minimum $43,154.

“I knew after the ninth round if I could go in and win the average, the world title would take care of itself,” he said. “I was just making sure to go out there, make a good solid run in the last round and get the job done.”

And that’s what he did. Waguespack’s 5.1-second run didn’t place in Round 10, but it clinched the average crown and powered him to the world championship by $43,251. Waguespack said he has come a long way since joining the PRCA in 2012, making his Wrangler NFR debut in 2015 and finishing 11th in the world standings.

“I’ve grown a ton since I was first here at the Thomas & Mack Center,” said the 6-foot-1, 190-pound world champion. “I just have more confidence in this building, and that helped me out a bunch. Your nerves are still going everywhere but experience gives you the upper hand.”

Waguespack was also quick to credit the horse he competed on named Scooter, the two-time PRCA | AQHA Horse of the Year for steer wrestling.

The horse is owned by his traveling partners Tyler Pearson (the 2017 PRCA Steer Wrestling World Champion) and Kyle Irwin, a four-time Wrangler NFR qualifier. Waguespack also travels with Ty Erickson, who is a five-time consecutive NFR qualifier.

“Horsepower is a blessing in this event,” Waguespack said. “The better horse, the better you can perform. My traveling partners also help me a ton. We feed off one another.”

Eight might be Wade Sundell's lucky number. Thanks to picking up eight checks during his eighth trip to the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo, the Boxholm, Iowa, cowboy was crowned the 2018 Saddle Bronc Riding World Champion.

"Words can't explain it, it's amazing," Sundell said. "I've been trying to do it since the first time here, but I'm glad it came and hope there's more to come."

Sundell has competed at every Wrangler NFR from 2009-15. He nearly won the world twice before, finishing second in 2010 and 2015.

"It's the gold buckle and what everyone wants, it's the greatest thing ever," he said immediately after winning the title. "Everyone shoots for it, and it's what you always work for. Before tonight, I felt good and kept firing away at them."

Sundell won Round 5 with a 92-point ride on Frontier Rodeo's Medicine Woman, the same bronc that was the deciding factor in CoBurn Bradshaw's average win, after nailing a 92-point ride in Round 10.

"I told (flankman) Heath Stewart earlier that they (the crowd) were needing to be wowed and that he was about to see something he hadn't seen in a while," Sundell said. "I was stoked to have that one. It's the best she has ever been with me, so I bared down and had fun."

Sundell and Medicine Woman are familiar with each other. Sundell had another 92-point ride on her in the final round of the 2014 Dodge City (Kan.) Roundup Rodeo.

"It was everything I figured it would be," he said. "She wanted to stall out, so I kept gassing on her."

Sundell went on to split the win in Round 7 with Chase Brooks, when both cowboys made 90-point rides. Sundell did it aboard Lancaster & Jones Pro Rodeo's Total Equines Angel Fire. The 90 points tied the round record set by Billy Etbauer in 2009.

Sundell had never ridden Angel Fire, but said he had a good idea of what the bronc might do.

"I'd seen her before and knew she would have some moves, and there were a few more than I thought," he said. "She lived up to every bit of it."

By then, Sundell had climbed from eighth to fifth in the world standings at $194,329 with three rounds left to go.

"Just being here is the coolest thing you ever get to do," he said. "Every day is like the first time. It doesn't matter where you go or what you do, I'm just glad to be here."

Scoring 85.5 points in Round 8 and then placing second and fourth in the last two rounds, pushed Sundell to the top of the 2018 PRCA | RAM World Standings with $280,636. He won by a margin of $18,202.

"Just go day by day and do what you've been doing your whole life," Sundell said. "Keep your chin down and have fun riding bucking horses."

Sundell won his first saddle bronc riding world championship after placing in eight rounds at the 2018 Wrangler NFR.
Although team roping header Clay Smith entered the 2018 Wrangler National Finals Rodeo in first place and heeling partner Paul Eaves was in second – both with $115,345 – the duo had a long race ahead of them for the gold buckle.

They took that long race in stride, pulling away in the latter stages of the Wrangler NFR to claim their first world championships in their respective events, while setting single-season records by finishing with $289,921.

Entering the Finals, Smith had a slim $392 lead over No. 2 header Kaleb Driggers, while Eaves was $591 behind Driggers’ partner, Junior Nogueira. So, doing well in the average was essential.

With high payoffs and fans, family and sponsors watching closely, the pressure was on for Smith and Eaves.

Round 1 was a chance to set the early tone, but during their first run, Smith and Eaves missed the steer and recorded a no time, while Driggers and Nogueira pulled into the lead.

But during Round 2, Smith and Eaves posted a 4.0-second run, winning the round and pulling Smith within $3,838 of Driggers in heading and Eaves within $4,822 of Nogueira in heeling.

“It sure helped to get some money the second round,” said Smith, 27. “We’re going to keep going at them and see what happens. That’s all we can do, keep making the best round we can make.”

Smith and Eaves split for fifth in Round 3 and won Round 5, which enabled them to pull back into the lead of their respective events. Their 3.8-second win in the fifth round moved Smith and Eaves from sixth to fifth in the average.
Eaves said the steer was a big factor in the victory.

“The steer was really good, one of the better steers we’ve drawn,” said Eaves, 28. “Tonight, he was pretty straight, and it makes a difference to be fast. Everything came together.”

During Round 6, they added $15,654 to their bank accounts, placing third in the round and building nearly $30,000 leads on their closest competitors.

Despite the big payoffs at the Wrangler NFR, the duo tried not to treat the Finals different than other rodeos.

“The same as we would at a regular rodeo,” Smith said.

“We make sure the horses are warmed up and that’s really it, we just focus on what we need to do. There’s no difference between here and when we go to Odessa (Texas). It’s just the same routine.”

By Round 10, Smith and Eaves put together a team roping championship run.

They added $15,654 to their bank accounts, placing third in the round and building nearly $30,000 leads on their closest competitors.

They stopped the clock in 4.4 seconds to clinch third in the average – 34.5 seconds on eight head.

They each cashed in for $174,577 at the Finals.

“It’s everything we’ve worked for,” Smith said. “We just stayed aggressive and tried to win something on every one of them (the steers). We were catching them, getting good checks and that’s a big advantage.”

The duo remained strong in the average and weathered the storm at the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Smith and Eaves won their first team roping world titles after placing third in the average at the 2018 Wrangler NFR and finishing with a single-season record of $289,921 each.
Cowboys like Shane Hanchey, Tuf Cooper, Tyson Durfey and Trevor Brazile were prominent in the conversation when talking about the potential 2018 PRCA Tie-down Roping World Champion.

Caleb Smidt, the 2015 Tie-down Roping World Champion, flew under the radar.

But following Round 10 at the 2018 Wrangler National Finals Rodeo, the Bellville, Texas, cowboy was basking in the spotlight with the gold buckle.

“This is awesome,” Smidt said.

Smidt earned $232,817 to finish atop the 2018 PRCA | RAM World Standings. Cooper placed second with $205,268, while Brazile was third with $194,297.

Smidt entered the Wrangler NFR in eighth place, but zoomed past all his competitors, thanks to winning $142,846 in Las Vegas, the most of any tie-down roper. A large chunk of Smidt’s Vegas winnings — $67,269 — came from winning the average, which he also won in 2015.

“It has been a few years, but this one means a lot more to me than the first one,” he said. “The first one I was young, and I was just roping. (In 2018) I came out here to rope and do it for my family. To have another world championship and average championship is awesome.”

Smidt won the average with an 83.7-second time on 10-head. He did that with consistent performances night in and night out. He placed in six rounds and won Round 1 with a 7.6-second run. This was Smidt’s fifth trip to the Wrangler NFR (2013, 2015-18) since he joined the PRCA in 2012.

All the pressure to win a world championship was on Smidt in Round 10. A no-time would cost him both buckles. If he stopped the clock in 12.8 seconds or better, he could win the average, and he did it with an 8.1-second effort, splitting sixth place in the final round.

“I wanted to do the same thing I’ve been doing all week,” Smidt said. “I got good starts and drew some really good calves. I’m just glad to be right here right now.”

Smidt was quick to credit his horse, Pockets, for fueling his success.

“Pockets is 11 years old, and I’ve had him for four years,” he said. “I won the world on him in 2015. He’s awesome. I didn’t ride him all summer. I rode a couple calves on him before I came out here (to the Wrangler NFR). He made it easy enough for me, and now we’ve got two gold buckles.”

Cooper praised Smidt for his ability.

“Caleb is an amazing roper, and he did such a great job,” he said. “It has been a rough year for him. He’s overcome adversity, and he and his family have known what to focus on, which is the Lord.”

Sage Kimzey continued to write PRCA history when he won his fifth consecutive world title with $415,263. He is the first bull rider to do so since the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo started 60 years ago.

Shoulders is the only other cowboy to win five straight titles in bull riding. His fifth came in 1959, the first year of the National Finals Rodeo.

“Anytime your name is by Jim Shoulders, you are in a league you can’t put into words,” said Kimzey, 24. “He is one of the greatest cowboys of all time, and it means the world to me.”

Earlier this season, Kimzey shattered the record he set in 2017 ($237,152) when he ended the 2018 regular season with $297,026, including ground money.

“Sometimes I question myself why I do this, but every time I get down in the dumps, I think back to the 6-year-old me who would kill for the opportunity to be a beacon of light in the world and spread some good,” Kimzey said.

Kimzey entered the Wrangler NFR with $111,550 – the biggest lead of any event leader – separating him from Parker Breding.

“This year was tough, it was just sheer grit and determination from the start of the year,” he said. “It started with a fractured pelvis, and it was a 365-day grind. Going in with a big lead, then getting hurt in the first round – it was a brutal 10 days. It was hard to get out of bed.”

Despite bucking off four in a row, Kimzey’s position at the top of the world standings was untouchable until Round 10.

“You hear about it being the toughest 10 days of the sport,” he said. “Before this year, I didn’t think that was true and never had an issue beforehand. But this year, in Round 1 on through, I was fighting tooth and nail for what I could get, but today was a proverbial cherry on top.”

Kimzey pulled out all the stops in the final round, nailing a 93-point ride on Beutler & Son Rodeo’s Record Rack’s Shootin’ Stars.

“It was a dogfight to the end this year, and that’s when you learn the most about who you are as a competitor and as a person,” he said. “It was one of those things where I had several opportunities to give up and never did, and that’s the biggest thing I took out of this week.”

– Matt Naber
With a gold buckle at stake in the last round, Scott Snedecor shined.

The Fredericksburg, Texas, cowboy earned his second-consecutive gold buckle by winning Round 10, with an impressive 9.0-second time at the 2018 Clem McSpadden National Finals Steer Roping in Mulvane, Kan.

“This is awesome,” said Snedecor, 43. “(At my first NFSR) I just wanted to win a world title, and it didn’t matter whether I won another one or not. Now, I have a buckle for everybody in my family.”

Snedecor and his wife Kelli have two children, son, Colton and daughter, Kallyn.

When Snedecor backed into the box for Round 10, he trailed Cooper by $4,096.

To clinch the title, Snedecor had to win Round 10 – which paid $9,155 – and earn a check in the average race. If Snedecor did that, Cooper would be unable to catch him.

That’s exactly how things unfolded. In addition to winning Round 10, Snedecor took home $13,202 for finishing fourth in the average with a 92.8-second time on eight head. Cody Lee won the average with a 132.0-second time on 10 head.

“I don’t crunch numbers anymore, that’s not my deal,” Snedecor said. “I practiced and prepared for this. I focused on doing what I do and having fun.”

For the second year in a row, Snedecor won the world championship riding Possum.

“Possum is an outstanding equine athlete,” Snedecor said. “Stephen Stransky owns that horse. It doesn’t matter what circumstance you put that horse in, he’s great under any condition, long score and short score. He’s easy to rope on, and I’m lucky to have a buddy like that to let me take that horse when I need him.”

Snedecor won Rounds 2 and 10 and split the win in Round 1. His round wins were the most of any NFSR competitor. He earned $51,086 at the NFSR, the most of any cowboy.

By winning Round 2 with a 10.9-second time, Snedecor also won the Colby Goodwin Award. The Second Go-Round Award is given in honor of the late Goodwin, who passed away after being injured in the ninth round of the 1999 NFSR.

Snedecor joins steer roper Rocky Patterson with four gold buckles. Only legendary Guy Allen (18), Everett Shaw (6) and Trevor Brazile (6) have more steer roping gold buckles than Snedecor and Patterson. Snedecor has won a total of 26 rounds at the NFSR, which is the third best of all time, trailing Allen (48) and Brazile (35).

All eight riders from the 1988 PRCA season had an opportunity to compete in the 1989 PRCA season. The top 10 riders in each event were awarded prize money, with the top 50 riders receiving national recognition. The PRCA media guide provided detailed standing information for each event, including the top 15 riders and their earnings.

Wade Sundell won his first saddle bronc riding world title at the 2018 Wrangler NFR, after placing in eight rounds and finishing with $280,636.

The Wrangler NFR is the season-ending championship event for the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association and is widely acknowledged to be the world’s premier rodeo. Held annually since 1959 – and since 1985, at the Thomas & Mack Center every December in Las Vegas – the Wrangler NFR showcases the very best cowboys, barrel racers and livestock in the world.

The contract signed with Las Vegas Events in 2015 keeps the Finals in Las Vegas through 2024 and raises prize money significantly over that decade. It is telecasted on CBS Sports Network and streamed on ProRodeoTV.com.

The Top 15 contestants in the standard rodeo events – bareback riding, steer wrestling, team roping (headers and heelers), saddle bronc riding, tie-down roping, WPRA barrel racing and bull riding – qualify to compete at the Wrangler NFR based on money won during the regular season, including earnings from the Wrangler PRORODEO Tour, RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo and PRCA Xtreme Bulls Tour. At the conclusion of the Wrangler NFR, the sport’s world champions are determined based on total season earnings (money earned at the Finals plus earnings during the regular season).

The Wrangler NFR consists of 10 rounds (one round on each of the 10 consecutive days with each contestant competing once a day). Cowboys and barrel racers earn money by placing first through sixth in any round, and pick up more money by placing first through eighth in the average (cumulative times or points earned during the 10 rounds).

At the end of every Wrangler NFR, there are two champions in each event (four for team roping): the average winner, who won the Wrangler NFR (by having the best cumulative time or score over the 10 rounds) and the world champion (who finished the year with the most money, including what he or she earned at the Wrangler NFR). For each event, the average winner and world champion may be the same person or different people.

2018 Wrangler NFR highlights

• Trevor Brazile won his 14th all-around world championship, 24th gold buckle and tallied his 73rd career go-round.

• Bull rider Sage Kimzey picked up his fifth consecutive world title, joining four other bull riders (Smokey Snyder, Harry Tompkins, Jim Shoulders and Don Gay) to earn five bull riding world championships in PRCA history. Shoulders is the only other cowboy to win five straight bull riding titles (his fifth one came in 1959, the first year of the NFR).

• Bareback rider Tim O’Connell won his third consecutive world title thanks to a 90-point ride on Cervi Championship Rodeo’s Vitalix Ain’t No Angel during Round 9 where he regained the lead. He remained in the top spot through Round 10 and earned a split of the average (with Steven Dent), finishing first with $319,801.

• Clayton Biglow set a new Wrangler NFR record for highest bareback riding score after receiving 93 points on C5 Rodeo’s Virgil.

• Team ropers Clay Smith and Paul Eaves won their first world titles in team roping, both finishing with $289,921 and setting Wrangler NFR records in team roping (heading and heeling) season earnings.

To add to the excitement level of a world championship event, every year RAM rewards the cowboy or cowgirl who earns the most money at the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo.

The RAM Top Gun Award goes to the one contestant who wins the most money in any single event at the Wrangler NFR; it’s the only title that pits contestants in multiple events against each other.

The winner gets a RAM 3500 Heavy Duty Truck, a special Montana Silversmiths custom buckle and a RAM Top Gun-branded gun from Commemorative Firearms.

 Winners of the RAM Top Gun Award:

2018  Chase Dougherty, BR  $209,058  won the average at his first Wrangler NFR
2017  Marcos Costa, TD  $195,519  won both the average title and world championship
2016  Tyler Waguespack, SW  $213,218  won the world, the average and the RAM Top Gun Award in second appearance
2015  Steven Peebles, BB  $234,054  recovered from dire injury in July, broke single-event earnings record at NFR
2014  Sage Kimzey, BR  $175,466  first rookie to win the award; broke bull riding Wrangler NFR earnings record
2013  Sherry Cervi, GB  $155,899  broke two records en route to her fourth gold buckle and third average title
2012  Mary Walker, KB  $146,941  won gold buckle and RAM Truck Top Gun at her first Wrangler NFR – at age 53
2011  Kaycee Feild, BB  $179,327  won both average title and world championship
2010*  Trevor Brazile, TR, TD  $211,509  won TR average title plus AA, TD and TR world championships

Top Wrangler NFR earners in single events before the RAM Top Gun Award existed

2009  Sherry Cervi, GB  $146,100  won average title but not world championship
2008  Lindsay Sears, GB  $139,002  won world championship but not average title
2007  Lindsay Sears, GB  $119,255  won neither average title nor world championship
2006  B.J. Schumacher, BR  $142,644  won both average title and world championship
2005  Lee Graves, SW  $126,412  won both average title and world championship
2004  Billy Etbauer, SB  $117,745  won world championship but not average title
2003  Janie Ward, GB  $111,908  won both average title and world championship
2002  Jason Jeter, BB  $98,432  won average title but not world championship
2001  Janet Stover, GB  $126,934  won world championship but not average title
2000  Brent Lewis, TD  $103,585  won average title but not world championship

* In 2010, the inaugural year of the RAM Top Gun Award, money earned in multiple events counted in Top Gun standings. Starting in 2011, the RAM Top Gun Award has gone to the contestant who earns the most in a single event. Had that been true in 2010, bull rider J.W. Harris would have collected the RAM Top Gun Award in addition to his world and average titles.

The annual RAM Rodeo PRCA Permit-member Challenge, hosted by the PRCA in conjunction with the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo, is a two-round competition for the Top 5 permit members in each of the PRCA’s standard events (bareback riding, steer wrestling, team roping, saddle bronc riding, tie-down roping and bull riding). The PRCA sponsors the RAM Rodeo Permit-member Challenge as part of its outreach to young contestants who are trying to make the leap to become professional rodeo contestants.

The Top 5 permit members in those events each season – based on total money won on their permits at the end of the regular season Sept. 30 – are invited to compete in the RAM Rodeo Permit-member Challenge in Las Vegas in December, concurrent with the first week of the Wrangler NFR. Team ropers whose regular partners do not qualify are matched with other partners by PROCOM.

The Permit-member Challenge had its origin in 2008, when PRCA stock contractors invited permit members in the roughstock events to ride horses and bulls at the Benny Binion Bucking Horse and Bull Sale, and offered prizes as part of that event. The PRCA added timed events to the Permit-member Challenge in 2014; the Rookie Ride Off bull riding competition was added in 2017.

PRORODEO TOUR

Saddle bronc rider Chase Brooks won the All American ProRodeo Finals with $13,263 after an 89-point ride on Pickett Pro Rodeo’s Delta Dawn in Waco, Texas.

The PRCA’s All American ProRodeo Series comprised all PRCA-sanctioned rodeos with added money of $30,000 or less. Cowboys who ended the year-long season among the Top 30 cowboys in their events (in the All American ProRodeo Series standings) qualified for the All American ProRodeo Finals and a share of its purse (more than $400,000). While the Top 30 qualified to enter the Finals (in Waco, Texas) only those who entered at least 30 All American ProRodeo Series rodeos that season were eligible to be named All American ProRodeo Series champions. In 2018, the All American ProRodeo Finals paid out nearly half a million dollars to contestants (Oct. 6-13), crowning champions and helping them get a big jump in the PRCA|RAM World Standings.

What is Xtreme Bulls?

The PRCA Xtreme Bulls Tour showcases the PRCA’s top bull riders and some of the rankest bulls the world has to offer. Xtreme Bulls competitors include the top bull riders from the PRCA World Standings as well as contestants who advance through Xtreme Bulls qualifying events.

In most Xtreme Bulls events, every contestant competes in the first round, with the top performers advancing to the final round. The winner of the two-head average after the final round earns the title for that Tour stop. (A few Xtreme Bulls events are one-headers.) Money won on the PRCA Xtreme Bulls Tour counts toward the PRCA World Standings for bull riding, which determine the qualifiers for the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo, but does not count toward the all-around standings. There were six Division I Xtreme Bulls events in 2018 and 44 Division II events.

2018 SEASON HIGHLIGHTS

The Finale paid eight places with a total of $94,000 in prize money. It began with the Top 40 riders in the Xtreme Bulls Tour standings.

- Sage Kimzey won two Div. I stops (Fort Mohave, Ariz., and Ellensburg, Wash.), finishing the season with $79,797 (including ground money) and winning his third Xtreme Bulls title
- Elliot Jacoby scored 91 points on Rocky Mountain Rodeo’s Bomb Pop at the Greeley (Colo.) Xtreme Bulls
- Joe Frost scored 89 points on 4L & Diamond’s Monte Walsh in the short round to win the Xtreme Bulls competition in Fort Worth, Texas. He took home $30,000 after winning the crown and added another $1,500 for his ride in the first round
- Sage Kimzey picked up $33,323 after winning the Finale at Ellensburg, Wash. It’s the second highest amount won at a Tour stop; Jordan Spears holds the top record of $39,386 at the Finale in 2017

Tilden Hooper broke the bareback riding record with a 92-point ride on Hi Lo ProRodeo’s Redzilla at the 2019 RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo. The Texas cowboy won the title with $19,670.

CIRCUIT INFORMATION AND RECORDS
The circuit system is an integral part of the association. Every PRCA contestant belongs to a circuit and has an opportunity to advance to a national championship in the multimillion-dollar arm of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association. It affords opportunities to cowboys who may not have the circumstances that allow them to be on the road for thousands of miles a year. But make no mistake, these cowboys are as good as they come. They also make up the majority of the PRCA’s membership.

In 1975, the PRCA created a system that breaks up the United States into 12 circuits. The circuits include as few as one state, such as the California, Texas and Montana circuits, to as many as 13 – such as the First Frontier Circuit in the northeastern part of the county. In 1987, the National Circuit Finals Rodeo was incorporated, and Dodge became the title sponsor of all 12 circuit finals rodeos and the Dodge National Circuit Finals Rodeo. In 2010, the Dodge brand rodeo initiative went to the RAM Truck division of the Chrysler Group. RAM still has the title sponsorship of all 12 U.S. PRCA Circuit Finals Rodeos and the National Circuit Finals Rodeo.

In 2018, the PRCA expanded the circuit system to 13 by welcoming Canada as the Maple Leaf Circuit. This was in cooperation with the Canadian Professional Rodeo Association. The Maple Leaf Circuit will debut at the 2020 RAM NCFR.

As the regular season ends, top competitors from each event qualify to compete at their circuit finals rodeos. Champions from those rodeos, as well as the overall year-end winners from each circuit, are then invited to Kissimmee, Fla., to vie for RAM NCFR championships.

Each contestant can compete in and out of his circuit throughout the year, but only the points they earn within the circuit they designate at the beginning of the season are applied in the circuit standings. Nonetheless, everything a contestant wins – in any circuit – is applied in the PRCA|RAM World Standings. So, while most circuit contestants rodeo close to home, there is still opportunity for them to earn enough money to get to the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo.

The tournament-style RAM NCFR determines the national circuit champions in each event. The competition produces exciting challenges for the athletes and vivid entertainment for the fans. All 26 qualifiers from the 13 circuits compete in the two preliminary rounds of the rodeo. The top eight contestants overall (from each event) advance to the semifinal round, with all previous scores and times thrown out. The top four move on to the final round – a sudden-death competition that determines the national circuit champion in each event. Because the top four contestants begin with a clean slate in the final round, each one has an equal opportunity to claim a RAM NCFR title.

In additions to their winnings, RAM NCFR event winners receive a $20,000 voucher for a new RAM vehicle, a Polaris RANGER UTV, a pair of boots from Justin, a trophy saddle from Cactus Saddlery and a Montana Silversmiths buckle.

The National Circuit Finals Steer Roping is a similar event that determines the national champion in a separate event, steer roping.

Kim Sutton was voted Timer of the Year – a new category in 2018 – at the PRCA's annual awards banquet.

2018 Pendleton Whisky Let ’er Buck Stock of the Year Awards

Each year, the top ProRodeo cowboys in each roughstock event vote for the top bucking horses and bulls. Contestants vote in the fall, and the winning animals are acclaimed at the PRCA’s annual awards banquet in December just before the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo.

Stock contractors are proud of these top buckers. They invest heavily in purchases and/or breeding programs, feed and medical care for their bucking stock for years, fostering the animals’ growth and development until they are ready to perform at rodeos.

In 2010, Pendleton Whisky expanded its ProRodeo involvement by sponsoring the stock awards, which are now known as the Pendleton Whisky Let ’er Buck Stock of the Year Awards. Pendleton Whisky provides cash prizes for the top three animals in each event and funds the stipends for stock contractors who provide bucking stock for the Wrangler NFR.

The 2018 Pendleton Whisky Let ’er Buck Stock of the Year Awards went to:

Virgil won Bareback Horse of the Year for a second consecutive year after taking many cowboys to the winner’s circle in 2018. This past December, the 10-year-old gelding made his third trip to the Thomas & Mack Center. “It really means a lot to us, me as an owner yes, but it means more to my crew,” said Vern McDonald, owner of C5 Rodeo. “We all love this horse and it just means so much to do it two years in a row with the same horse. You can’t put a price on it, it’s overwhelming.” During Round 5 of the 2018 Finals, Clayton Biglow scored 93 points on Virgil, setting a new Wrangler NFR and arena record for the highest bareback riding score. In 2017, Tim O’Connell won Round 3 of the Wrangler NFR with a 91.5-point ride on the 1,600-pound horse. Their paths crossed again at the Fallon County Fair & Rodeo in Baker, Mont., Aug. 19, 2018 and the result was record-breaking with a 91-point ride. McDonald said he’s been unable to find another bronc like Virgil since buying him in 2013. “They don’t make them like that,” McDonald said. “I’ve been trying to find another Virgil or raise another Virgil and I just can’t – they’re so few and far between.”
Lunatic From Hell
Burch Rodeo

The son of Lunatic Fringe was a heavenly draw in 2018. “It’s what we bank on every year when crossing studs and mares,” said Matt Burch, co-owner of Burch Rodeo with brother Chad Burch. “It doesn’t happen often because there are a lot of great horses now, and to win it in this day and age means a lot. That’s what you raise them for, you raise them to be the best.”

At the 2018 Wrangler NFR, CoBurn Bradshaw scored 87.5 points on Lunatic From Hell. By Round 10, Bradshaw was crowned the 2018 Saddle Bronc Riding Average Champion. For the 2018 regular season, Dawson Hay scored 92.5 points aboard Lunatic From Hell at the United States Open Xtreme Broncs Match in Faith, S.D. Standing at about 15.3 hands tall and weighing in at 1,350 pounds, this 10-year-old light-colored bay gelding has improved with age. “Everyone in this business is out to raise great horses and make it better for cowboys,” Burch said. “Better horses mean more chances to win and my hat’s off to those guys, everyone has improved their breeding programs.” Swapping studs, artificial insemination and other breeding practices are some of the ways Burch credited for the improvements made in raising roughstock. “The world of bucking horses is starting to blow up,” Burch said. “It’s a tough ballgame, and we love playing it.”

Spotted Demon
Big Stone Rodeo, Inc.

Cowboys love a challenge, particularly if it’s an unrideable bull. Big Stone Rodeo, Inc.’s Spotted Demon came out the victor every time he was drawn at a PRCA event in 2018. “They don’t come along every day and when they do it’s just a bonus,” said Bruce Sunstrum, owner of Big Stone Rodeo, Inc. “It means quite a bit because there’s a lot of bulls out there to pick from.”

At the 2018 Wrangler NFR, Boudreaux Campbell drew Spotted Demon for Round 10 but was immediately bucked off. The last time a PRCA cowboy made a qualified ride on the bull was Tyler Taylor with an 89.5-point ride at California Rodeo Salinas, July 23, 2017. The 1,800-pound behemoth and last year’s runner-up for Bull of the Year got the best of many top bull riders in 2018. “When he bucks and turns back, he kicks pretty high and he’s a big bull,” Sunstrum said. “He’s not a real mean bull, but he’s got what it takes to be a champion.”
From 1956-73, only one top bucking horse was named each year.

Stock contractors determine the spelling of their animals’ names and sometimes choose alternative spellings.

The PRCA’s annual Remuda Awards go to the stock contracting firm and rodeo committee that provide the best, most consistent pen of bucking horses, creating the best opportunities for contestants to score well. In 2018, the Remuda Award for best pen of bucking horses brought to PRCA rodeos went to Sankey Pro Rodeo and Robinson Bulls, and the committee recognized for assembling the best pen of bucking horses was Gooding (Idaho) Pro Rodeo.

Scooter

owners Tyler Pearson and Kyle Irwin

Pearson and Irwin bought Scooter, 14, in 2015 from Jason Reiss and he’s won Horse of the Year the last two years in a row. He is a horse that’s easy to compete on, does well in the corner and gives his rider a chance to win no matter what kind of steer is drawn. “He’s just gotten better and better,” Pearson said. “When we got him, he was fat and lazy. He got into fighting shape and really took off from there. I wouldn’t have this level of success without him. He’s been the game-changer in mine and Kyle’s careers. He has pure instinct and likes his job. He’s very laid back and doesn’t let much bother him.”
RK Tuff Trinket

owner Riley Minor

This is the fourth time Minor’s made it to the Wrangler NFR by competing on Bob. This 17-year-old American Quarter Horse gelding is very versatile and brings a lot of try and heart to the arena. “He’s been in second place for Horse of the Year and I know he’s a good horse with a few quirks,” Minor said. “There’s not many times in the year he costs me or messes up, it’s mostly on me if I don’t win. I’ve ridden a lot of good horses and he’s the best one I’ve had and doesn’t make many mistakes. You’re only as good as your horse and he’s definitely changed my game. When I’m on him, I’m more confident and I know I’m going to win.”

Zans Colonel Shine “Colonel”

owners Jake and Tasha Long

Jake Long bought Colonel eight years ago, as a 6-year-old from Oklahoma-based Dixon Flowers Rope Horses. Since, the horse has won AQHA/PRCA Horse of the Year three times (2016-18) and has helped him get to five Wrangler NFRs. Long competed on Colonel, 15, in Las Vegas for a sixth time after finishing eighth in the 2018 PRCA | RAM World Standings. “From the get-go he was like nothing I’d ridden before,” Jake Long said. “A lot of the better horses have been high strung and that makes them good because they always want to go. But it’s unique for him to be so laid back and relaxed, and still be something you know every time he goes in the box he will be ready to fire. He is like a little kid, he gets a lot of cookies and wants to be in the middle of everything. He’s constantly looking for attention and has a playful personality. Every time I hook up the trailer, he watches me and is disappointed when he doesn’t get on the trailer.”
Little Smart Leo
“Big Time”

owner Tyler Milligan

This 17-year-old American Quarter Horse brings a solid and consistent ride every time. Big Time didn’t have any rodeo experience when Milligan bought him four years ago in Duncan, Okla., but last year he took the 21-year-old cowboy to his first Wrangler NFR. “I realized he was unique at the beginning of my rookie year and last year was when he started getting good, ” Milligan said. “He’s gotten to where he handles cattle better, and he can take the jerks from big calves a lot better too. I wouldn’t have won near what I won this year if it wasn’t for him. And, I wouldn’t have won Rookie of the Year in 2017. He’s helped my roping a lot and he’s given me more confidence. I know I will be riding one of the better horses and that gives you more of an edge.”

DM Sissy Hataday

owner Chris Glover

It took a few years for Cooper to fine tune his steer roping skills, but this 11-year-old American Quarter Horse was worth the wait. What he lacks in size, he makes up for in ability. Standing at 4 feet 7 inches tall, Glover thought Cooper would be too small for steer roping but being built like a bulldog means Cooper brings plenty of power to the arena. Chris Glover’s other horse, Champ, also won Horse of the Year in 2016. “In steer roping, the horse is 90 percent of it,” Glover said. “You don’t win if you don’t have good ones. He (Cooper) has a mind of his own and is ornery, that’s what makes him so good. He scores better than any horse I’ve ever had and he’s the fastest horse I’ve ridden.”

DM Sissy Hataday

owner Dan and Leslie Kinsel

Hailey Kinsel and her powerful yellow horse continue to add titles to their already impressive resume. Finishing as reserve world champion in 2017, the duo won the 2018 championship at the Wrangler NFR in Las Vegas. The 2018 WPRA | AQHA Barrel Racing Horse of the Year, DM Sissy Hayday, is an 8-year-old palomino mare out of Royal Sissy Irish by PC Frenchmans Hayday. Kinsel knows Sister can get to top speed in a hurry and stop just as quickly. The duo currently holds the arena record at the Wrangler NFR with a 13.11-second run. “She likes the job, and she likes the way we handle her,” Kinsel said. “I think she’s as in love with the game as I am. I think she does her job because she likes it.”

Justin Boots, in recognizing the hundreds of thousands of hours of work that rodeo committee members around the country donate to putting on their local rodeos, has long made a practice of honoring 125 outstanding volunteers around the country through its John Justin Standard of the West program. PRCA rodeos vote on the recipient of Justin’s national award for a committeeperson whose dedication represents the deeds of those thousands of volunteers. In 2018 that award went Jerry Shepherd of the Ute Stampede in Nephi, Utah.

Winners of the John Justin Committeeperson of the Year Award include:

1990 Philip Diehl, Pawhuska Elks Rodeo, Pawhuska, Okla.
1991 Cletus Schenk, Red River PRCA Rodeo, Wichita Falls, Texas

2018 Jerry Shepherd, Ute Stampede, Nephi, Utah

Jerry Shepherd, an all-purpose member of the Ute Stampede in Nephi, Utah, received the PRCA’s John Justin Committeeeman of the Year in 2018.

“This is quite the deal to be recognized with this honor,” Shepherd said. “I can’t believe that so many people thought that much of what I did. I really appreciate this.” Shepherd, who qualified for the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo in 2004 as a bull rider, has been a member of the Ute Stampede Rodeo committee for three years. “Since I joined the committee I have tried to do whatever is needed to help, but I do like focusing on the production of the rodeo,” he said. “I got into it to make the rodeo better for the cowboys. I entered that rodeo during my whole career and it was good, but every rodeo can be better.” Shepherd, who finished ninth in the 2004 world standings, acknowledged joining the rodeo committee gave him a different perspective. “It was a big eye-opener, seeing the other side of things,” Shepherd said. “I went there with the attitude that I knew everything about rodeo, but I had no idea how much work goes into putting on a rodeo.”

The PRCA award honors contract personnel (such as announcers, bullfighters, clowns, specialty acts, secretaries and timers) who have been PRCA members for at least 15 years and have committed their lives to the rodeo industry, yet received little recognition for their commitment and contributions. The nomination process was open; an external selection committee chose five finalists, and PRCA contract personnel members voted among the finalists. The posthumous recipient of the inaugural Contract Personnel Lifetime Achievement Award was long-time PRCA secretary Donita Barnes, wife of ProRodeo Hall of Fame inductee and PRCA stock contractor Bob Barnes, and mentor to thousands of contestants and others involved with Barnes rodeos. The PRCA renamed the award in her honor in 2012.

The 2018 recipient of the Donita Barnes Lifetime Achievement Award was the late Hadley Barrett, who for decades announced at big and small rodeos throughout the U.S., the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo (1968, 1976, 1979, 1983 and 2008), National Finals Steer Roping (1967) and seven times at the Canadian Finals. The veteran announcer was named PRCA Announcer of the Year four times (1983, 1985, 1989 and 2002) and was inducted into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame in 1999.

Recipients of the Donita Barnes Lifetime Achievement Award are:

- 2011 Donita Barnes
- 2012 Art and Linda Alsbaugh
- 2013 Fred and Norma Dorenkamp
- 2014 Quail Dobbs
- 2015 Cotton Rosser
- 2016 Karen Vold
- 2017 Jim and Julie Sutton
- 2018 Hadley Barrett

Legendary PRCA Announcer Hadley Barrett, left, who passed away on March 2, 2017, left a lasting mark on the PRCA and rodeo industry. The final rodeo Barrett announced at was the San Antonio Stock Show & Rodeo, which ran Feb. 9–26, 2017; he was 87. Fellow ProRodeo Hall of Famer Randy Corley worked San Antonio with Barrett, who also was his father-in-law. Randy is married to Hadley’s daughter Michelle Corley. “I think winning this award would rank really, really high to Hadley,” Randy said. “Other people who have won this award were all friends of his, and he would really feel that this has placed him among some awfully good people.” Barrett became a PRCA member in 1965. He was the voice of the Sidney (Iowa) Championship Rodeo starting in 1983, worked the Buffalo Bill Rodeo (North Platte, Neb.) for more than 30 years, the Greeley (Colo.) Stampede for more than 20 years and worked for more than a decade at Cheyenne (Wyo.) Frontier Days.

In 2018, with only one week left in the regular season, Kyle Whitaker, 42, was $33 shy of qualifying for the Linderman Award. But the Nebraska cowboy’s 64-point ride at the Coy Lutz Memorial Rodeo in Centre Hall, Pa., was worth more than just the $320 paycheck on Sept. 22 – it also earned him his fourth consecutive Linderman Award and 10th overall since 1997.

“I thought nine was quite a few,” Kyle Whitaker said. “I wasn’t crazy about riding broncs, but all my friends said, ‘you have to go for 10.’”

It’s so difficult to qualify for the Linderman Award that nobody qualified in 1994 and 1996. To be in the running for the Linderman Award, cowboys must win at least $1,000 in a minimum of three events, where at least one of those must include one roughstock and one timed event.

“I wish there were more people that tried to get it,” Kyle Whitaker said. “I had good battles with guys like Trell Etbauer to win the Linderman, but it’s a little different the last few years where there aren’t as many guys trying for it.”

The Linderman Award, named after ProRodeo Hall of Fame cowboy Bill Linderman, recognizes cowboys who perform at both ends of the arena. Linderman won six world championships, two in the all-around (1950, 1953) and saddle bronc riding (1945, 1950,) and one each in bareback riding (1943) and steer wrestling (1950).

In 2017, Kyle Whitaker joined his dad Chip Whitaker, Phil Lyne and Trell Etbauer as the only cowboys to win the award for three straight years. Now he’s the only one to win the prestigious award for four consecutive years. Chip won the award a total of four times (1975, 1977-79).

“I didn’t think he’d be doing it over 21 years, that’s for sure,” Chip said. “It will take a long while for someone to beat it.”

Although he’s hanging up his bronc riding saddle, Whitaker’s not done competing, as he plans to continue bulldogging.

“This will be my last one,” Kyler Whitaker said. “It was hard getting on broncs this year but I wanted to get qualified one more time at least.”

A PRCA rookie is a cowboy competing in his first year as a full member of the organization. (Cowboys first join under the PRCA’s permit system, which allows them to compete for some time without becoming full-fledged members. Once a cowboy has “filled his permit” by winning $1,000 at PRCA-sanctioned rodeos, he can apply to become a full member and is considered a rookie for the remainder of that season.) The PRCA’s Resistol Rookies of the Year are the first-season cowboys who earn the most money in their events during that season.

The Resistol All-around Rookie of the Year is the rookie who earned the most money among all rookies in two or more events. The PRCA rookie standings and Rookie of the Year Awards are sponsored by Resistol Hats.

In 2018, 20-year-old Tanner Green received the All-Around honor; the Cotulla, Texas, cowboy won by earning $52,394.

“I wasn’t focused on winning all-around rookie of the year,” Green said. “I didn’t know I won until I got a phone call (from the PRCA). But it is very cool to win this award.”

Green won the bulk of his money in tie-down roping, as he earned $34,822, finishing fifth in the rookie standings. He also earned $17,572 as a team roping header, which was sixth among rookies.

“I don’t feel like I do one or the other better,” Green said of the two events. “I feel like some days I head better than I tie-down rope and sometimes I tie-down rope better than I head. I think it just depends on the day.”

Green’s path into the rodeo world was carved out when he was just a baby. He’s the grandson of ProRodeo Hall of Famer Phil Lyne. Lyne is a five-time world champion (all-around, tie-down roping, 1971), (all-around, tie-down, 1972) and (steer roping in 1990).

“Growing up we roped every day and practiced every day, but there was never pressure on me,” Green said. “He (Lyne) wanted me to do whatever I wanted to do. I always looked at him as my grandfather. I knew how good he was and what he did back in the day, but we never really talked about that. We just talked about my roping. He has helped me a lot with my mental game. Not a lot of stuff bothers him, and he doesn’t overthink things. Growing up around that helped me have a stronger mindset in rodeo.”

Green plans to move on to bigger and better things in rodeo.

“Now that I have a taste for it and know what to do and what not to do, I think 2019 will be different and hopefully I will make the NFR,” Green said. “I have my horses and partner lined up and I’m excited to have an even better year.”

Late rodeo announcer and ProRodeo Hall of Famer Hadley Barrett received the 2018 Donita Barnes Lifetime Achievement Award for his longstanding passion and work for ProRodeo.

Randy Corley

Randy Corley was delighted to go to Las Vegas for the 2018 Wrangler NFR, his 18th time to announce the season’s culminating event in the Thomas & Mack Center. Corley, who was inducted into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame in 2017, has been named PRCA Announcer of the Year 12 times – more than anyone else – between 1984 and 2005, then again in 2011 and 2015. He works rodeos from tiny Hill City, Kan., to giant San Antonio. He has announced in Caldwell, Idaho, every year since 1982 and at Puyallup and Kitsap County, Wash., since 1983. In 2005, he and Amanda became the first father-daughter tandem to work the NFR – as announcer and timer.

Originally a bareback riding and bull riding contestant, Corley started making radio commercials, then went to broadcasting school with the idea of becoming a rodeo announcer. Long-time PRCA announcer Hadley Barrett heard him in North Platte, Neb., and invited him to apply for his first card with the PRCA, which he did in 1980. Randy and his wife, Michelle – the daughter of his mentor, Barrett, who passed away in 2017 – live in Silverdale, Wash., and enjoy spending time going to and from rodeos they are working and visiting their adult children: Amanda, Kassi, Cole and Brittney. Lately, says Corley, the Bible has become his favorite book to read. “I’ve learned that I can talk to God any time of day, and I don’t even need a microphone.”

Wayne Brooks

Veteran PRCA announcer Wayne Brooks has worked the Wrangler NFR eight times in 18 years, but he says it’s a similar experience each time.

“It’s exciting, it’s nerve-wracking, it’s exhausting, it’s everything you expect at an event of that magnitude, with that number of people in the audience, that caliber of contestants, and that much money involved,” Brooks said. “That’s a pretty stout recipe there, whether it’s your first time or your 20th.”

And yes, even veteran announcers like Brooks, have to put in some extra preparation for the Wrangler NFR.

“The three of us start getting on the phone a month ahead of time, swapping livestock and cowboy information,” he recalled. “We talk about where we’re going to go with certain match-ups. One of us might talk about how many gold buckles a certain cowboy has, the next guy might talk about his earnings history, the next might mention that he’s a nice guy with a great family.

“That’s one of the most Western crowds that we’re in front of, all year,” he noted. “You really work to not be wrong about any information. Shawn Davis is amazing. Having that many years to perfect that event, which they have done in every detail … there’s never any question on how it’s supposed to go. That adds a whole level of pressure to be good, to be smooth, to be correct, to fall in line with the timelines that are in front of you, to say everything correctly. It’s not just a thrill – it’s the crown jewel of our industry.”

Roger Mooney

Rodeo announcer Roger Mooney worked his third Wrangler NFR in 2018 and told ProRodeo Sports News it meant a whole lot to him.

“I truly believe that this rodeo is the greatest rodeo on the planet, and there’s a reason for that,” he said. “It’s the best cowboys, it’s in the city of entertainment, it’s the greatest fans in the world, and the most beautiful people in rodeo come to Las Vegas.”

In 2000 and 2004, the Georgia native served as an alternate, but in 2018 when Boyd Polhamus stepped down from announcing (at the Finals) to take over for Shawn Davis, that opened a third spot. Mooney has been a professional rodeo announcer for more than 30 years.

“It’s 14 years since I’ve been on the stage out there (at the NFR),” Mooney said. “Pressure is a privilege. I truly believe that this rodeo is the greatest rodeo on the planet, and there’s a reason for that.”

The 52-year-old and his wife, Ashley, have a 7-year-old son, Cash, and a 6-year-old daughter, Morgan. Mooney said when he told Cash he’d gotten a job in Las Vegas, his son replied, “Daddy, you’ve got a rodeo every week. But if we get to go to Las Vegas, it’s special.”

Mooney said he puts in hundreds of hours of preparation to announce at the NFR.

“It’s just amazing,” he said. “The last time I was in Las Vegas, I think I was going 20-21 hours a day. You get a little nap and then you’re back out. And if things don’t go well, it could be 24 hours a day.”
Charlie Throckmorton

Charlie Throckmorton has announced the Clem McSpadden National Finals Steer Roping for a record-18 consecutive times, and 19 overall. In fact, as a 32-year member of the PRCA, he is acknowledged as a repository of knowledge even among fellow Gold Card members.

Throckmorton has witnessed first-hand some historic events in the steer roping event, such as the 1990 down-to-the-wire race between Phil Lyne and Guy Allen as well as Allen breaking Jim Shoulders’ record for number of world titles and then Trevor Brazile breaking Allen’s record.

Throckmorton has seen all of the records set in steer roping at the NFSR such as most money won, the arena’s fastest times, fastest average times during his 18-year tenure at the NFSR.

Throckmorton announced the closest world championship race in ProRodeo history when, in 2005’s Round 10, Scott Snedecor won the world title by a margin of $1.67 over Allen. Throckmorton remembers, “You could hear a pin drop in that 10th round, and everyone was standing.”

Throckmorton has worked the NFSR in Guthrie, Okla.; Amarillo, Texas; Hobbs, N.M.; and now Mulvane, Kan.

“There is not much I haven’t seen in steer roping throughout the last 32-plus years,” says Throckmorton, who considers single-steer roping the original event of rodeo. “It’s an event where you can’t rush things; you have to let things happen. It takes a lot of talent, precision, a great horse, perseverance, and the will to win. I feel fortunate to have witnessed so many exciting runs and title races among the very best cowboys.”

Jody Carper

In 2018, PRCA announcer Jody Carper took the mic next to Throckmorton for the fourth time (he also announced at the Clem McSpadden National Finals Steer Roping in 2008, 2014-15).

“It’s a really good event and I’m happy to be a part of it,” Carper said. “When you combine the Top 15 in the world at a great facility and with a great crowd, it’s got to be a dynamic that’s exciting a fun.”

Carper joined the PRCA in 1997 and also has experience as a PRCA contestant. Before he held his card as an announcer, he competed in calf roping for several years.

During his spring run, he met his future wife Kelli. In 2003, he wrapped up his tie-down roping career with a California Circuit finals qualification and then shifted his focus to obtaining a PRCA announcer card.

Jody and Kelli have been married since 2005 and reside in Jamul, Calif.; Jody announces full-time at rodeos throughout the U.S. and Canada.

The 46-year-old said entertaining the crowd is his favorite aspect of his job.

“I want to see them smile, laugh and have a good time,” he said. “I like to engage the audience with different surveys and ask them different questions. When they loosen up and have fun, I have fun.”
PRCA Announcers

PRCA announcers deliver commentary throughout the rodeo to acquaint the audience with the contestants and educate fans about competition rules. The announcers’ enthusiastic play-by-play and wealth of insider information connect the fans to the exciting sport they came to watch. This chapter provides information about members who were insured and qualified PRCA announcers as of March 6, 2019.

For the first time, 2017 Wrangler NFR Barrelman Cody Sosebee won the PRCA’s Comedy Act of the Year award in 2018.

They say the National Finals Rodeo gets in your blood. After 10 consecutive years (2009-2018) in the Thomas & Mack Center, Dusty Tuckness is thoroughly infected with Wrangler NFR fever.

“One of my goals since I was a kid has always been to go to the Finals, and another is to beat the records of other bullfighters who have gone there. To go once is an achievement, but to go 12 times like Darrell Diefenbach or 14 times like Joe Baumgartner (13 consecutive, 14 overall), that’s the ultimate goal. I want to push forward and get myself into their category.”

But Tuckness is driven by more than competitive fire.

“I try to be as consistent as I can, do my job day in and day out, and hope that will lead to a good outcome at the end of the year. Every year I get to go back, it means I’ve been consistent and the bull riders trust me and want to see me in the arena, so to keep going back is a real honor.”

Tuckness always knows going in that he’ll get a little beaten up at the Wrangler NFR, but it’s all part of the sport as far as he’s concerned.

“Rodeo is a game where there’s not a set pattern,” Tuckness said. “When guys are riding for world championships, they tend to hang on a little longer, and that can put them in a more hazardous spot when they hit the ground. And some of the new bulls have some hook to them. But I always go in thinking that every bull is the meanest one around, because I want to be on guard and always ready to take the shot for the cowboy if needed.”

Every bullfighter waits for that call – that he’s been selected by PRCA bull riders to protect them at the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo. At age 30, Nathan Jestes had been waiting longer than some, and that just heightened his appreciation of the moment.

“For years I’ve looked down on that arena from the stands in the Thomas & Mack Center, dreaming of being down there looking up,” Jestes said. “So when I got the phone call, I couldn’t have been more excited – and more nervous at the same time. I had a great sense of accomplishment, and I also knew I had a lot to prepare for, because I wanted to fight bulls better than I ever had.”

Ten years into his bullfighting career, Jestes still gets nervous before each rodeo performance – and that’s a good thing.

“I try to use my nerves as a positive thing – to hone my mind into focus and get into a zone,” he said. “Bullfighting is such a mental job. I’ve trained my mind to use my nerves to tune out the distractions and tune into the situation at hand. What we do is all reaction. If you stop to think about what to do, you’ll be too late to do it. All you can do is focus on the bull rider’s position, react to where he’s coming off as it happens, and be in the right place at the right time.”

While Jestes says he tunes out the crowd noise, announcer’s voice and music as part of that focus, working in the Thomas & Mack arena has a special kind of energy.

“The first day, when the barrel racing was done and we stepped out into the arena, I looked up into the crowd in the stands and I realized my dreams had come true, my body went numb,” he remembers. “But as soon as I saw Shane Proctor pull his bull rope, I had a calmness and I was able to go to work with no problems. You can’t really appreciate the caliber of rodeo it really is until you’re on the dirt – the quality of the animals and the riders. It made me step up – I fought bulls better than I ever had, just because of what I was surrounded by.”

And the Wrangler NFR requires that step up, no doubt.

“We fight 15 bulls, 10 nights in a row, which is more than you usually see at a typical summer rodeo, so there’s more chance of something happening,” Jestes notes. “But at the NFR, all those bulls are proven – they have timing, so you can predict where the rider is going to come off and it’s easier to read the situation as it happens. Those bulls turn back and buck hard, and when they do that, they throw the rider farther so you have more time and space to work – but those guys are riding for so much money, they sometimes hang on longer. But if I get knocked down, I know the other bullfighters will pick up the bull and save me from getting run over.”

At the 2018 Wrangler NFR, Jestes was injured during Round 1; bullfighter Wacey Munsell served as a substitute for the remaining nine rounds.
Cody Webster – Bullfighter

Cody Webster joined the PRCA in February 2011 and less than two years later was selected by PRCA bull riders to work the Finals, which was “a huge honor,” Webster said.

In 2018, he returned for his sixth consecutive appearance.

“I used to watch the NFR in diapers, with my folks,” Webster said. “I’ve been dreaming about working it all my life, so it really was a dream come true. It was everything I thought it would feel like, but walking down that alley … you’ve got to times it by 100 to get close to what it really feels like. It’s very heart-touching.”

Webster thinks that in 2013, at age 21, he was the youngest bullfighter ever to work the NFR.

“It was cool to go in there and show everybody what the young guys can do,” he said. “It was overwhelming with the first few bulls, but after that I just did what I’ve been doing all year – fighting bulls mentally correctly. With 18,000 people watching you, you don’t want to mess up.”

Of course, that’s not the only unusual aspect of working that particular rodeo. Webster liked the arena size, as well.

“Those aren’t the tightest quarters I’ve worked – I’ve worked some arenas that aren’t much bigger than a living room,” he said. “The (Thomas & Mack Center arena) is the perfect size, to me. It’s small enough that the situation won’t run away from you, which is good because those bulls are on their game.”

John Harrison – Barrelman

John Harrison worked the barrel in the Thomas & Mack Center last year for the fourth time, meaning he’d earned his fourth Wrangler NFR buckle. But the one he wears most often doesn’t even have his own name on it – it was given to the bull riding average winner at the 1967 NFR.

“This will be the (52th) year since my grandad rode Tornado,” says Harrison, recalling the storied night that Freckles Brown became the first man to last eight seconds on the fearsome bull. Back then, ProRodeo’s Super Bowl was held in Oklahoma City, and Harrison revisited the scene.

“Those old chutes are still under the bleachers at the Jim Norick Arena – they’re under the bleachers, concreted in,” Harrison said. “We crawled in to see them – it’s dark and dingy under there, but we used our cell phones for lights. It was neat to see where that happened. He got his gold buckles (Brown was also the 1962 world champion bull rider), and for me, that was winning Coors Man in the Can” for top barrelman in 2014 and 2016-17.

Harrison said he thinks about his grandfather beforehand, behind the scenes, when he works the barrel at the Wrangler NFR. But once the rodeo starts, it’s all business – and at the Wrangler NFR, that means staying in the barrel to focus on safety, anticipating the exact second to start creeping toward the bull and rider.

“Those guys are riding for so much money there – more than $25,000 a night, which could make a down payment on a ranch,” notes Harrison. “At any other rodeo, after every bull I’m out of the barrel, interacting with the crowd, but there, it’s about timing and safety and staying out of the way of the TV cameras.”

His past experiences as a Wrangler NFR Barrelman has helped calm his nerves at the Finals, Harrison said. “Knowing what to expect lifts the pressure off your shoulders, so it’s more fun,” he said. “I know where I can be and what I can do.”
Bullfighters are rodeo athletes whose job is to protect bull riders after they dismount or are bucked off the bulls. Bullfighters move toward the bull immediately to distract it with sound, movement and sometimes touch, in order to direct its attention away from the cowboy and toward the exit gate. Bullfighters often throw their bodies between the bull and rider, and may take a hooking (a “punch” from the bull’s horns) so the bull rider doesn’t have to.

Clowns are not responsible for cowboy protection; they are entertainers who keep the audience engaged during breaks in the rodeo. Many visit with audiences before the rodeo, and some perform public relations functions in local communities before and during the rodeo.

Barrelmen work in both areas — they entertain the audience, often by interacting comically with the rodeo announcers, and they help with bull rider protection. The barrelman places his barrel where it may give the bull an alternate target after the bull ride. He may jump in and out of it as needed, or position it so the cowboy or bullfighters can use it as cover.

All three categories of personnel are considered integral to rodeo and are part of every PRCA-sanctioned rodeo.

This list includes information on insured PRCA-member bullfighters, clowns and barrelmen as of March 6, 2019.

For the first time, six-time Wrangler NFR Specialty Act Tomas Garcilazo won the PRCA’s Dress Act of the Year award in 2018.

Emmanuel Lataste

When Emanuel Lataste stepped into the Thomas & Mack Arena at the 2018 Wrangler National Finals Rodeo, his feet weren’t on the ground for long.

Lataste, “The Bull Jumper,” astounded the audience by leaping over a charging bull multiple times – a custom he brought across the pond from his home in Montfort, France.

“Where I was born in France, it’s a tradition,” said Lataste, who is known as Manu. “It’s not like freestyle (bullfighting) where they can do whatever they want. In my tradition it can be two hours, and we try to do the best moves ever.”

Lataste’s bull jumping is the result of a lifetime of work. He started doing gymnastics when he was 6 and attended a bull-jumping class when he was 14. Now, he’s in the 20th season of his career at 33 years old.

“In my culture, if you want to be a man you have to jump the bull, but not everyone does it and not everyone is good at it,” Lataste said.

Lataste lives in Saint-Tite, Quebec, Canada. His first rodeo in North America was the 2013 Festival Western de Saint-Quentin in New Brunswick, Canada. Two years later, he made his U.S. debut at the 2015 Reno (Nev.) Rodeo.

The French bull jumper compared the bulls at American rodeos to the bulls found in Spain 500 years ago. American rodeos use Mexican bulls which came from Spain but have since been crossbred into something on par with what was used centuries ago in Spain.

“Jumping a bull is one of the most exciting things I can have in my life,” Lataste said. “When I’m in the arena, I’m really professional and I focus on the bull. The only moment I can see what just happened in the arena is when I have the reaction of the crowd. Last week, I had a standing ovation, and the people stood up by themselves. It (that reaction) is like a gift to me – that makes my day, when the crowd stands up.”

In addition to jumping bulls, in France, Lataste is a beekeeper.

“I’m pretty sure I will do beekeeping in Canada soon, it’s in my blood,” Lataste said. “The bull jumping is stronger than me.”

He attended the Wrangler NFR as a spectator in 2016 and 2017, but he never anticipated being in the arena in 2018.

“It wasn’t me who brought me to the NFR, it looks like it was the bull jumping,” Lataste said. “It was my dream. When I went to the NFR by myself, I said, ‘that’s where I have to go one day,’ and then I got called and I didn’t believe it.”

The challenge at Las Vegas wasn’t the size of the crowd or knowing he was at the pinnacle of professional rodeo, it was condensing his usual five-minute performance to one. The shorter performance made it a challenge to get in a number of jumps.

“(Longtime Wrangler NFR general manager) Shawn Davis told me I have one minute; ‘Do whatever you want, but you have one minute,’” Lataste said. “It was the shortest and hardest performance of my career.”
Madison MacDonald

In 2018, trick rider Madison MacDonald extended her string to eight straight appearances at the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo.

“I never thought this would happen,” MacDonald said. “It’s everyone’s dream to perform there, so I’m beyond lucky and beyond blessed. It’s always an awesome experience, and every year they surprise me.”

The 26-year-old has been trick riding for 19 years. In fact, the seasoned performer is beginning to think about slowing down, maybe in a few years when she starts a family with her husband, Keegan Thomas. They live in Stephenville, Texas, where MacDonald teaches trick riding when she’s not on the road performing.

“I always wanted to be a teacher, but thought it might be junior high math and science,” MacDonald said. “It just worked out that I get to teach trick riding instead. Like any performer, I don’t always want to share my secrets, but it would be too dangerous to keep it to myself — so I tell them everything they need to know.”

MacDonald’s students come to Stephenville from around the neighborhood and all over the country — even overseas, as she had one student come from the Netherlands. She credits the increased interest to the appeal of the activity, as well as lucky timing.

“It’s a sport for young girls, with costumes and fast horses,” MacDonald said. “And a couple of movies that featured trick riding helped too, like ‘Cowgirls and Angels.’”

That still appeals to the Wrangler NFR veteran herself and to former NFR general manager Shawn Davis.

“Mr. Davis loves the glitz and glamour, so I always try to come to Las Vegas with new costumes and new flags,” MacDonald said. “He tells me what he wants, and he doesn’t have to worry about me. I’m a perfectionist, and I guess I haven’t let him down yet.”

“It’s like coming home to a family now, saying hello to all the grounds workers and the people backstage. But it’s also really exciting. It never gets old (being involved in that production) because it’s new and fresh every year, and there’s so much energy around that place. You just build off that.”
Specialty Acts

Unlike other sports, which have a single halftime or seventh-inning stretch, rodeo has many short breaks in the action. Specialty acts fill those gaps with entertainment ranging from hilarious comedy to breathtaking excitement, as well as opening many rodeos with spectacle and glamour.

Local rodeo committees hire specialty acts that will appeal to their local audiences, so specialty acts can range from large trick riding teams to skydivers who bring flags into opening ceremonies and clowns who interact with props, the announcer and audience.

Other specialty acts feature trained animals such as horses and dogs (even monkeys, goats, mules, and llamas) who perform astonishing tricks.

This chapter provides some information about PRCA members who were qualified as insured specialty acts as of March 6, 2019.

Working behind the scenes long before the rodeo begins until the last animal is loaded up, stock contractors may be the most overlooked people in rodeo production.

While cowboys get most of the recognition, the livestock at PRCA rodeos play a vital role in the success of the contestants. In roughstock events, the cowboy’s riding ability produces half of the score and the animals’ ability to buck powerfully and skillfully earns the other half.

The stock contractors’ primary goal is to ensure that the animal athletes of ProRodeo are healthy, properly cared for and fit to perform. This job includes tasks familiar to all ranchers: breeding livestock with the desired characteristics, loading and transporting animals safely and providing veterinary care. Rodeo stock contractors also have sport-specific jobs, including working behind the chutes to ensure safety for both people and animals and caring for animals during the rodeo. The value of top bulls can reach $60,000 or more and a first-rate bucking horse can sell for $80,000 or more. But the animals are more than a monetary investment – they become valued members of stock contractors’ families.

Stock contracting companies that want to supply livestock for PRCA-sanctioned rodeos agree to follow rules that ensure the humane treatment of rodeo animals. Below are PRCA card-holding stock contractors as of March 15, 2019:

4L & Diamond S Rodeo
Stock contractor: Charlie Lowry
LOCATION: Summerville, Ga.
OTHER NOTABLE LIVESTOCK: Big Iron, No. 2 PRCA bull, 2010-11. BACKGROUND: 4L & Diamond S Rodeo is a family-owned and -operated firm founded by former PRCA contestant Charlie Lowry, 2002 Women’s Professional Rodeo Association Stock Contractor of the Year. In 1981, Lowry won the steer wrestling and all-around titles at Cheyenne (Wyo.) Frontier Days, pocketing $18,000 – at the time, the most money ever won at a single regular-season rodeo. He qualified for the NFR in 1978-79 and 1981. He also holds 16 year-end titles in the Southeastern Circuit. He obtained his PRCA card in 1974 and started his stock contracting business in 1985. Lowry and David Simpson joined in 2009 to form 4L & Diamond S Rodeo, which works rodeos in the southeastern part of the country and is Georgia’s largest, most established professional rodeo producer. Five 4L & Diamond S Rodeo bulls went to the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Andrews Rodeo
Stock contractors: Sammy and James Andrews
LOCATION: Bagwell, Texas.
BUCKING STOCK OF THE YEAR: Bulls Midnight Bender, won in 2016 two months after 2011 World Champion bull rider Shane Proctor became only the second PRCA bull rider to make eight seconds on him and scored 91 points; bull My Brother ranked third that year; bull Bodacious won in 1994-95 (inducted into ProRodeo Hall of Fame, 1999); bareback horse Skoal’s Outlaw Willie, 1991. OTHER NOTABLE STOCK: Brutus was named the top saddle bronc riding horse at the 2017 Wrangler NFR; Hard Knox, one of three top bull riding scores (88) at the 2015 Wrangler NFR; PTSD Power Play, top bareback horse of the 2014 Wrangler National Finals Rodeo and top five in 2015; bull Air Marshall, one of top five at 2015 Wrangler NFR; bull Swat Slinger, top bull of the 2014 Wrangler NFR; bull Fender Bender, voted No. 3 PRCA Bull of the Year, 2007, reserve, 2006; bull Cat Daddy, voted reserve PRCA Bull of the Year, 2005. BACKGROUND: Sammy Andrews, 2002 PRCA Stock Contractor of the Year, is a third-generation stock contractor. With knowledge gained from a lifetime of rodeo experience, Sammy and his son, James, operate the business and have enjoyed success with their breeding program for bucking bulls and horses. In 2011, they renamed one of their top bucking horses PTSD Power Play to honor veterans dealing with Post Traumatic Stress Syndrome, and he was named top bareback horse of the 2014 Wrangler National Finals Rodeo. In 2008 and 2014, the firm was nominated for Stock Contractor of the Year. One of their bareback horses, three saddle brons and five bucking bulls were selected for the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Bailey Pro Rodeo

Stock contractors: Shane Gunderson, David F. Bailey, Kelly Klein and Justin Stringer

LOCATION: Baldwin, N.D.
NOTABLE LIVESTOCK: Dippin’ Super Cool, top bull, Wrangler NFR, 2002-03, and his sire, Playboy; Lucky Strike, top bull, Wrangler NFR, 2005-06, and his sire, Gunslinger; Prairie Circuit Bareback Horse of the Year Flying High, 2007-08.
BACKGROUND: Although 1989 was his first year as a PRCA stock contractor, David Bailey has been in the rodeo business for more than 40 years. Bailey and his wife, Lisa, own and manage both Bailey Pro Rodeo and the ranch where David Bailey’s family roots go back to Oklahoma statehood. Shane Gunderson became general manager in 2015. The firm sent two saddle brons and a bucking bull to the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Bar T Rodeo

Stock contractors: Jeff Flitton, Evelyn Kerby and Cody Flitton

LOCATION: Chester, Utah.
OTHER NOTABLE STOCK: Sparrow, top-three PRCA saddle bronc, 1991-93, top saddle bronc at 1990 NFR and among top three 1991-3; Highland Special, who went to the NFR 20 times; Deception, High & Mighty and Reception, also Wrangler NFR bucking horses; Son of Sadie and Eight Ball were named among the top five saddle brons of the 2009 Finals.
BACKGROUND: Bar T Rodeo has been a family-run operation for more than 60 years. Stock is kept on 2,500 acres, leased and owned, in central Utah. In 1997, Swanny Kerby, who started the business, was inducted into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame. His son, saddle bronc rider and pickup man Bud Kerby, and Bud’s wife Evelyn built up Bar T Rodeo’s breeding program and helped produce the first-ever Olympic exhibition rodeo in Farmington, Utah, in 2002. Bud Kerby passed away in October 2010 and was posthumously inducted into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame in 2013. In 2012, Evelyn sold the business to their daughter and son-in-law Wendie and Jeff Flitton, their son Cody and daughter Kellie Addington and her husband Sam, who operate it with another Kerby daughter, Lori Pierce, and her husband, Martin. Evelyn Kerby continues to advise the family. Bar T Rodeo won the Remuda Award in 2005 and 2011 for providing the best, most consistent pens of bucking horses to PRCA rodeos, and Bar T livestock swept the Wilderness Circuit awards in 2011 as Bitter Robin, 8 Ball and Top Gun were named best bareback horse, best saddle bronc and best bucking bull, respectively. Three Bar T bareback horses, four saddle brons and one bucking bull were selected for the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Barnes PRCA Rodeo

Stock contractor: Marty and Westin Barnes

LOCATION: Peterson, Iowa.
BUCKING STOCK OF THE YEAR: Saddle bronc Crystal Springs, 1977.
OTHER NOTABLE STOCK: Bucking bull T Bar, Reliant Stadium arena-record 94 points with Terry Don West; bareback horse Smokeless Bow Tie carried Wes Stevenson to a 93-point ride at the 2002 Summer Tour Finale in Dallas, tying the second-highest score in PRCA history.
BACKGROUND: Bob Barnes, who passed away in 2013, was in the stock contracting business for 60 years; he had stock at each NFR since its inception in 1959 and at every RAM Great Lakes Circuit Finals Rodeo. One of the most respected stockmen in professional rodeo, he was 1984 PRCA Stock Contractor of the Year and was inducted into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame in 1994. Barnes considered it his mission to educate people about the sport and its Western heritage. His wife, Donita, was posthumously awarded the inaugural Lifetime Achievement Award for contract personnel at the PRCA’s Awards Banquet just before the 2011 NFR, and the award was named for her in 2012. One Barnes saddle bronc was selected for the 2016 Wrangler NFR.

1929. Bennie’s grandfather, Elra, and his great-uncles, Jake and Lynn, began supplying stock to Oklahoma and Texas rodeos more than 70 years ago. Bennie Beutler has served as assistant general manager of the Wrangler NFR since 1982; NFR chute boss, 1979-80; member of PRCA Rules Committee, 1980; stock contractor representative on NFR Committee, 1981-82; member of PRCA board of directors, 1989-91; stock contractor director on PRCA board until 2004. He was inducted into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame in 2010 and the firm was PRCA Stock Contractor of the Year in 1997 as well as being nominated in 2008-11 and 2013-15. Seven Beutler & Son bareback horses, three saddle broncs and four bulls were selected for the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Big Bend Rodeo
Stock contractors: Chad and Don Hutsell
LOCATION: Ritzville, Wash. BUCKING STOCK OF THE YEAR: Bareback horse Spring Fling, 1997; saddle bronc Spring Fling, 1999, (tie) 2000; bulls Rapid Fire, 1997; Unforgiven, 2002; Tahonta, 2003-04. OTHER NOTABLE STOCK: Kool Todd, tied for No. 3 saddle bronc in the PRCA, 2010, top five saddle bronc, Wrangler NFR, 2012, 2015; Dog Face, top bull of the Columbia River Circuit and selected for Wrangler NFR, 1992, reserve Bull of the Year, 1996; Tradewinds owns a share of the record with three Top Saddle Bronc of the NFR awards (1964-65, tie in 1969). BACKGROUND: Don Hutsell and Sonny Riley, who also co-own Flying 5 Rodeo Company, formed Big Bend Rodeo in April 1992 when they bought the Kelsey and McLean Rodeo Company from the late Ralph McLean. In 1997, Big Bend completed a rare double play when both bareback horse Spring Fling and bucking bull Rapid Fire captured stock-of-the-year honors. After the 1999 RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo, Hutsell decided to put a saddle on Spring Fling, and it paid off as she was voted top saddle bronc for two years, then returned to the bareback string and was voted one of the top three bareback horses for 2005. Big Bend bulls Unforgiven and Tahonta held the top title for three consecutive years between them. Big Bend Rodeo sent four saddle broncs and one bull to the Wrangler NFR in 2018.

Big Rafter Rodeo
Stock contractors: Jack Simmons, Sammy Catalena and Jimmy Roth
LOCATION: Kansas, Okla. BACKGROUND: Sammy Catalena has been involved in rodeo his entire life, and became a PRCA stock contractor in 1987. Before starting his stock contracting business from scratch in the mid-1970s, Catalena competed in youth, college and amateur rodeos. Partner Jack Simmons has been invested in all things ProRodeo. In 2014, Simmons became a partner of Big Rafter Rodeo and since has made it a personal mission to see the Big Rafter Outfitt become an elite organization within ProRodeo. Partner Jimmy Roth comes to the Pro Rodeo world with an interest in both the sport of rodeo as well as the western lifestyle. Recently, Roth partnered with Simmons for the focus of developing a rodeo company with a comprehensive focus on producing the best animal athletes through genetic research and incorporating new livestock that fits the profile for success. In 2018, the firm sent two bulls to the Wrangler NFR.

Big Stone Rodeo
Stock contractor: Bruce Sunstrum
LOCATION: Cessford, Alberta. NOTABLE LIVESTOCK: Spilled Perfume, one of the top five bareback horses of the 2015 Wrangler NFR; Spoonful of Sugar, Canadian Bucking Bull of the Year, 2008. BACKGROUND: Big Stone Rodeo is a separate company from Big Stone, Moreno and Growney Rodeo. It sent one bareback horse, two saddle bronc and three bulls to the 2018 Wrangler NFR. In 2018, the firm’s “Spotted Demon” was voted Bucking Bull of the Year and was named the top bull at the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Bridwell Pro Rodeos
Stock contractors: Tim Bridwell, Mike Corey and Leslie Lange
LOCATION: Red Bluff, Calif. BACKGROUND: In 2007, longtime PRCA stock contractor Frank Beard, of Beard Rodeos, retired. Tom and Leslie Lange, of Greeley, Colo., took over his operation, changing the name to Flying Diamond Rodeo and putting PRCA stock contractor Mike Corey in charge of day-to-day operations. In early 2017, Corey and Leslie Lange added longtime Growney partner Tim Bridwell to the firm, appointed him general manager and changed the firm’s name to Bridwell Pro Rodeos. Bridwell currently serves on the PRCA stock contractor executive council. The company sent four bareback horses, two saddle broncs and three bulls to the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Brookman Rodeo
Stock contractor: Dave Wieferich
LOCATION: Sidney, Mont. BACKGROUND: In 2006, Cathy and Dave Wieferich and their three children, LaTasha, Tesa and Tate, took over the rodeo business from the late ProRodeo Hall of Fame stock contractor Marvin Brookman, Cathy’s great-grandfather. While continuing to focus on Brookman’s famous breeding program, the Wieferiches have added sound, production and rodeo entertainment to the sport. They produce 10 rodeos across the northwestern United States and subcontract for many events all over the U.S. They sent one bareback horse, one saddle bronc and two bulls to the 2018 Wrangler NFR. WEBSITE: www.BrookmanRodeo.com.

Burch Rodeo
Stock contractor: Chad Burch
LOCATION: Gillette, Wyo. NOTABLE STOCK: Lunatic From Hell was voted 2018 Saddle Bronc of the Year. Burch’s Blood Brother tied for PRCA Saddle Bronc of the Year Award, 2008, runner-up, 2002-03; saddle bronc Lunatic from Hell and bucking bull White As were among the top five animals in their events at the 2014 Wrangler NFR, and Lunatic from Hell was also among the top three saddle broncs of the year 2014-15. BACKGROUND: For more than 20 years, Max Burch bred bucking horses that cowboys have described as “rank” or “eliminators.” Burch purchased Midwest Rodeo Company from Steve Sutton in 1999, and now Max’s son, Chad, runs the company. The firm sent two bareback horses, three saddle broncs and one bucking bull to the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

C5 Rodeo
Stock contractor: Vern McDonald
LOCATION: Lac La Biche, Alberta. NOTABLE LIVESTOCK: Virgil, voted No. 1 Bareback Horse of the Year in 2017-18 and was named the top bareback horse at the 2017 Wrangler NFR; Make Up Face, one of top five bareback horses at the 2012 Wrangler NFR. BACKGROUND: Glenn Herriman, a former PRCA contestant and pickup man, and his wife, Belinda, started their Northern Cross stock contracting business in the amateur ranks 20 years ago and gradually brought their five daughters into the operation. In 2004, the company purchased its PRCA card. Glenn Herriman passed away in December 2010 and Belinda ran the family business on their ranches in Omak, Wash., until 2011, when she sold it to Vern MacDonald, who changed its name to C5 Rodeo Company. C5 Rodeo sent three saddle broncs and one bull to the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Calgary Stampede
Manager: Keith Marrington
LOCATION: Calgary, Alberta. BUCKING STOCK OF THE YEAR: Bareback horses Grated Coconut, 2003-04, 2006-09 (a record six times); Lonesome Me, 1984, 1994; Moon Rocket, 1976; saddle bronc horses Wanda Dee, 1964; Kloud Grey Skoal, 1987; Lonesome Me Skoal, 1989-90. OTHER NOTABLE LIVESTOCK: Xplosive Skies was the top bareback horse of the 2016 Wrangler NFR; Special Delivery was named one of the top five bareback horses of the 2014 Wrangler NFR and among the top three overall for 2014-15, and had the highest score of the 2016 regular season with a 90.75-point ride with Jake Vold in the short round at the Ponoka (Alberta) Stampede; Reckless Margie was part of the top score of 91.5 points at the 2015 Wrangler NFR. Marrington is serving on the PRCA stock contractor executive council. BACKGROUND: In 1961, the Calgary Stampede bought a ranch to provide the flexibility needed for its event, breeding 70-plus mares a year to get a continuous supply of high-caliber bucking rodeo stock. With more than 22,000 acres, 500 horses and 90 head of bulls, the ranch recently has ventured into embryo transfers. In 2018, it sent eight bareback horses and seven saddle broncs to the Wrangler NFR.

Cervi Championship Rodeo
Stock contractor: Binion Cervi
LOCATION: Fort Madison, Iowa. BUCKING STOCK OF THE YEAR: Saddle bronc Brookman’s Velvet, 1980; bull Tiger, 1975. OTHER NOTABLE LIVESTOCK: Multi-Chem Texas Cocktail, No. 2 bull in the PRCA, 2009. BACKGROUND: The man responsible for producing many of the largest rodeos in the U.S., Mike Cervi, sold his business in 2004 to his son Binion, who now runs one of the largest stock companies in rodeo history. The Cervs draw from a herd of more than 600 head of bucking stock and thousands of head of other livestock at their Colorado ranches. The company is a conglomeration of several company interests acquired over the years, including Beutler Bros. & Cervi Rodeo Company. In 1973, Mike Cervi acquired Cervi Championship Rodeo Company, previously owned by Harry Knight and Gene Autry. Mike was named PRCA Stock Contractor of the Year in 1983 and 2001. Cervi Championship Rodeo sent four bareback horses, two saddle broncs and one bucking bull to the Wrangler NFR in 2018.

Championship Pro Rodeo
Stock contractor: Mark “Sparky” Dreesen
LOCATION: Brockway, Mont. BACKGROUND: The company sent two bucking bulls to the 2018 Wrangler NFR. Dreesen purchased the company in 2018.

Corey & Lange Rodeo
Stock contractors: Mike Corey and Leslie Lange
LOCATION: Moses Lake, Wash. NOTABLE LIVESTOCK: Bottle Rocket, one of the top five bulls at the 2014 Wrangler NFR; King of Hearts, No. 3 PRCA bull, 2010-11; War Zone, top-three PRCA bull, 2008; Seven of Hearts, tie for No. 3 PRCA bull, 2005. BACKGROUND: Mike Corey, a bull rider, pickup man and amateur contractor, joined forces with financial partner George Horst in 1999. The next year, Corey purchased Southern Rodeos from Billy Jaynes, who started that company in 1990. In 2011, Corey brought in Tom Lange, his partner in another stock contracting firm, Flying Diamond Rodeo. Corey is serving a 2016-17 term on the PRCA’s stock contractor executive council. The company sent one bareback horses and on saddle bronc to the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Cowtown Rodeo
Stock contractors: Grant and Elizabeth Harris
LOCATION: Pilesgrove, N.J. BACKGROUND: Grant Harris’ grandfather started producing rodeos in 1930 as a sideline to the family’s livestock market. In 1955, Grant’s father, Howard, started a weekly rodeo. In 1978, Grant Harris purchased an Eastern rodeo and renamed it Cowtown; he and his wife, Elizabeth (Betsy), continue to produce rodeos in conjunction with livestock auctions, farmers’ markets and farming operations. Harris, who joined the PRCA in 1973, competed in bull riding, team roping and saddle bronc riding. He was the First Frontier Circuit saddle bronc riding champion in 1975 and 1977-78.

of three top scores of 88 at the 2015 Wrangler NFR. BACKGROUND: Long-time PRCA stock contractor Joe Simon joined forces with Chad Berger in 2009 to form Dakota Rodeo. In the summer, most of their bulls roam a 100-acre spread in Mandan, N.D., and about 100 head of their horses are in Minnesota, as the company focuses on rodeos in the Great Lakes region. In the winter, many of their horses and bulls move to the company’s spread in warmer Perkins, Okla. Dakota Rodeo sent two bareback horses and three saddle broncs to the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Diamond G Rodeos
Stock contractors: Steve and Cyndi Gilbert
LOCATION: Toquerville, Utah. NOTABLE LIVESTOCK: Mr. T, whom 2000 World Champion Bull Rider Cody Hancock rode for 96 points at the 2001 Wrangler NFR – an event record. BACKGROUND: Steve and Cyndi Gilbert purchased two stock contracting companies in 1991. Steve Gilbert served as a stock contractor representative on the PRCA Board of Directors from 2005-08. The Gilberts sent one saddle bronc to the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Empire Rodeo
Managers: Ralph Lausten, Milo DeWitt, Elliot French, Alonso Gallego, Efren Gallego and Joel Gallego
BACKGROUND: A new company started in 2018 by partners who’ve competed in rodeos throughout their lives and have nearly 50 years of combined experience breeding and raising bucking horses. The company strives to create a uniform herd of horses for their rodeos by working with the best genetics available.

Fettig Pro Rodeo
Stock contractors: Alicia Fettig
LOCATION: Killdeer, N.D. BACKGROUND: Alicia Fettig is a third generation stock contractor. The Fettigs have been raising stock and producing rodeos since the 1940’s.

Five Star Rodeo
Stock contractors: Marty Johns and Paul Bowers Jr.
LOCATION: Okeechobee, Fla. BACKGROUND: Five Star Rodeo was formed in 1986 when brothers Troy, Dan and Wayne Weekley and their lifelong friend, Donald Parrish, purchased Flying G Rodeo from Eric Goolsby of Okeechobee, Fla. Marty Johns bought Five Star Rodeo in October 2006, and the company took a bull to the 2012 Wrangler NFR.

Flying 5 Rodeo
Stock contractor: Walter “Sonny” Riley
LOCATION: Ritzville, Wash. BUCKING STOCK OF THE YEAR: Bulls Yellow Jacket, 1999; Border Patrol, 2000; saddle bronc Spring Planting, 2009, 2013 (tie), and reserve, 2014 and 2016. OTHER NOTABLE LIVESTOCK: Miss Amerititle, top-three PRCA Bareback Horse of the Year, 2008; No. 2, 2011-12, among top five saddle broncs at 2012 Wrangler NFR. BACKGROUND: After producing amateur rodeos in the Northwest for four years, Flying 5 joined the PRCA in 1974. The rodeo company is a family-oriented operation, as are their wheat farm and cattle ranch. Riley is a former sale yard owner and has established a breeding program for bucking horses. It isn’t unusual for Flying 5 to put on a rodeo with as many as 20 young horses in the draw. “Nothing pleases us more than to be able to buck a good cowboy off one of our colts,” Riley said. He sent three saddle broncs to the Wrangler NFR in 2018.

Flying U Rodeo
Stock contractor: Cotton Rosser

BACKGROUND: The Silver Spurs Club’s first full-dress rodeo was held July 4, 1944, and it has been a yearly event since. An annual February rodeo was added in 1951, and the club celebrated the production of its 100th rodeo in February 1998. It continues to produce rodeos every February and June. The club also provides the stock for rodeos in Okeechobee, Fla., in March and September. The famous Silver Spurs Quadrille has performed at every rodeo produced by the club. The company sent a bull to the 2015 Wrangler NFR; a bareback horse was also selected but unable to attend.

Harper & Morgan Rodeo
General manager: Scotty Lovelace
LOCATION: Athens, Texas.
BUCKING STOCK OF THE YEAR: Bareback horse Real Deal, 2005.
OTHER NOTABLE LIVESTOCK: Donkey Kong had one of the two top scores of the 2015 regular season, a 93, in Pecos, Texas.
BACKGROUND: Stace Smith, a stock contractor since 1995, became owner of Smith, Harper & Morgan in 2004. Harper and Morgan had been producing rodeos since 1965 and had been stock contractors since 1983. Harlan Robertson joined the firm in 2010. Smith, Harper & Morgan Rodeo sent a saddle bronc and two bucking bulls to the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Stace Smith Pro Rodeos
Stock contractor: Stace Smith
LOCATION: Athens, Texas.
OTHER NOTABLE LIVESTOCK: Saddle bronc horse Big Jet finished third for stock of the year and third for Wrangler NFR top stock, 2005; Resistol’s Top Hat was named one of the five best saddle brons at the 2012 Wrangler NFR.
BACKGROUND: A PRCA stock contractor since 1995, Stace Smith has made a name for himself by sending stock to the Wrangler NFR every year since 1999. The owner of a telecommunications construction company, Smith also stays busy building his bull and bucking horse breeding program. He was named PRCA Stock Contractor of the Year 11 consecutive years, 2004-14 (also nominated in 2015), and he twice earned the PRCA’s Remuda Award for best pen of bucking horses (2004-05). He sent three bareback horse, five saddle brons and four bulls to the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Silver Creek Pro Rodeo
General manager: Randy Schmutz
LOCATION: Arkansas City, Kan.
BACKGROUND: After being inactive in rodeo stock contracting for 12 years, Rex Walker combined forces with longtime friend and rodeo producer Jerome Robinson to form Western Trails Rodeo, and PRCA stock contractor Joe Simon later became involved with the company, which ran 1,200 head of horses on two Colorado ranches. In early 2012, Matt Williams and several partners purchased Western Trails Rodeo and renamed it Silver Creek Pro Rodeo. In 2016, Williams took over sole ownership of the firm. The firm a saddle bronc the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Summit Pro Rodeo
Stock contractors: J.D. Hamaker, Hal Burns and Jesse Hill
LOCATION: Centennial, Wyo.
BUCKING STOCK OF THE YEAR: Bulls Cross the Wyoming Line, 2014, top four, 2015; Mr. T, 1986.
OTHER NOTABLE STOCK: Business Man, one of top five bucking bulls, 2012 Wrangler NFR; Blenderhead, top-three PRCA bull, 2004.
BACKGROUND: Summit Pro Rodeo is the successor to Burns Rodeo, whose stock is kept at Hal Burns’ High Plains Arena, six miles from Laramie, Wyo., and at his ranch about 23 miles from Laramie.
in southeastern Wyoming, where some portions of the ranch reach 8,500 feet in elevation. Hal Burns, son of the late PRCA stock contractor Pete Burns, began his own bucking stock breeding program a few years ago. Summit Pro Rodeo has bull calves sired by Wrangler NFR bulls Mr. T and Mardi Gras. Burns/Summit Rodeo had stock selected for the Wrangler NFR every year since 1983 – two bareback horses, two saddle brons and two bulls in 2016. Hal Burns serves as a PRCA stock contractor member on the PRCA’s Board of Directors. The firm sent one bareback horse and a bucking bull to the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Sutton Rodeos

Stock contractors: Jim and Steve Sutton
LOCATION: Onida, S.D.
BACKGROUND: Jim’s father, James H. Sutton – a ProRodeo Hall of Fame member – produced his first rodeo on the home ranch in 1926. Sutton Rodeos was formed in the late 1960s, and with 80 years of rodeo experience, the Sutton tradition continues. Sutton Rodeos raises 90 percent of their bucking horses and produced NFR openings in 1995 and 1996. Jim Sutton started the Wrangler Bullfights in 1981 in Rapid City, S.D. Jim’s wife, Julie, assists with sponsor relationships and was the first Sutton to time at the Wrangler NFR. Jim and Julie’s son Steve co-owns the firm, and Steve’s adult children, Amy, Brent and Brice, are equal partners in the firm. Steve has worked as a pickup man at the NFR in three decades (1978, 1981, 1986, 1993, 1995); Steve’s wife, Kim, has timed at the Wrangler NFR four times and their daughter Amy Muller at two more. Brent is a PRCA contestant and two-time RNCFR pickup man, and Brice is company flankman and livestock manager. Sutton Rodeos has sent stock to all but one Wrangler NFR; it sent two saddle brons and a bucking bull to the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

The Cervi Brothers Rodeo

Stock contractor: Binion Cervi
LOCATION: Greeley, Colo.
BUCKING STOCK OF THE YEAR: Saddle brons Descent, 1966-69, 1971-72 (a record six times); Frontier Airlines, 1975; Brookman’s Velvet, 1980; bull, Tiger, 1975.
OTHER NOTABLE STOCK: Mad Money was named among the best five bulls at the 2014 Wrangler NFR; Hard Times was named top bull of the 2010 Wrangler NFR; Vitalix Party Shop was named one of the top three saddle brons in the PRCA for 2012.
BACKGROUND: Binion Cervi’s father, Mike Cervi, has produced many of the largest rodeos in the United States. He served on the PRCA Board of Directors for years and was named PRCA Stock Contractor of the Year in 1983 and 2001. In 1967, Mike Cervi purchased Beutler Bros. Rodeo Company, one of the oldest (since 1929) and most prestigious rodeo companies, as well as the Billy Minick Rodeo Company. Retaining the Beutler name, he formed two companies, Beutler Bros. & Cervi Rodeo Company and Cervi Championship Rodeo. Several years ago, he sold Beutler Bros. & Cervi Rodeo to his son Binion, who renamed it Cervi Brothers Rodeo in 2012. Cervi Brothers sent two saddle brons to the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Three Hills Rodeo

Stock contractors: David Morehead and Jacob Morehead
LOCATION: Bernard, Iowa.
BACKGROUND: The stock contracting and production company has been in existence since 1986 and features award-winning livestock and quality production. The ranching operation features a bucking horse and bull breeding program with superior genetics as well as a commercial cow/calf herd and registered Quarter Horses and paints. The firm won the 2015 Remuda Award presented by Polaris RANGER for the best pen of bucking horses, and David Morehead is a stock contractor representative on the PRCA Board of Directors and is serving on the PRCA stock contractor executive council. Five bareback horses and four saddle brons from Three Hills herds were selected for the Wrangler NFR in 2016.

Triple V Rodeo

Stock contractors: Darce Vold, Dona Vold Larsen, Doug Vold
LOCATION: Pueblo West, Colo.; De Winton, Alberta; Casper, Wyo.
NOTABLE STOCK: Q, Mountain States Circuit Bull of the Year, 2006-08; RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo Bull of the Year, 2008.
BACKGROUND: Known for having produced many top rodeos in the past, this three-sibling partnership formed Triple V Rodeo in March 2005. Their continued success is credited to outstanding production in the arena as well as raising top-quality bucking horses and bulls through a longstanding breeding program. Their late father, Harry Vold, was in the rodeo business for more than 50 years and is a member of the ProRodeo Hall of Fame; Doug Vold was inducted into the Canadian ProRodeo Hall of Fame in 2005. Dona Vold-Larsen produced “A Tribute to Chris Ledoux,” voted 2005 Small Indoor Rodeo of the Year. Triple V Rodeo, the Women’s Professional Rodeo Association’s 2008 Stock Contractor of the Year, sent stock to the Wrangler NFR every year from 2000-08. In 2018, the company sent two bareback horses and one saddle bronc to the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

United Pro Rodeo

Stock contractor: Danny Reagan
LOCATION: Palestine, Texas.
BACKGROUND: In 2007, Tom Reeves, 2001 World Champion Saddle Bronc rider, started his PRCA stock contracting career with the founding of Wild Card Rodeo. In 2013, he sold his interest to Danny Reagan, who is now the general manager of the firm. In 2018, the firm sent two bareback horse and a bucking bull to the Wrangler NFR.
Universal Rodeos
Stock contractor: Mark Johnson
LOCATION: Jonesboro, Ark. BACKGROUND: Johnson started producing amateur rodeos in 1994 and became a PRCA stock contractor in 2005. He operates a 300-acre ranch in Jackson, Mo., with a herd of 80 horses and 55 bulls. Universal sent three bucking bulls to the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Vold Rodeo Co.
Stock contractor: Kirsten Vold
LOCATION: Avondale, Colo. BUCKING STOCK OF THE YEAR: Bareback horse Smokey, 1974 (and No. 1 bareback of the NFR in 1972); saddle broncs Sarcee Sorrel, 1976; Rusty, 1981; Angel Sings, 1978-79; Wrangler Savvy, 1986; Bobby Joe Skoal, 1991-93 (also top saddle bronc of the 1991 NFR); Painted Valley, 2010 (also top saddle bronc of the 2009 Wrangler NFR); bulls Panda Bear, 1976, No. 777, 1979-80. OTHER NOTABLE LIVESTOCK: Necklace, Bareback horse of the Year 1964, 1966, 1968, 1970 (a record four times); bull No. 33, top bull of the NFR in 1975. BACKGROUND: Born and raised in Canada, Harry Vold started his rodeo company there in 1954, relocating to a Colorado ranch in the late 1960s. His stock has produced some of the most famous bloodlines in America, passed along through many other stock contractors’ herds. Vold, known as “Duke of the Chutes,” said his goal is “to produce top rodeos all over North America and to have the best stock at the biggest and best rodeos, featuring the top cowboys.” Voted PRCA Stock Contractor of the Year 11 times and nominated many more times, he bought most of his bulls but breeds many bucking horses and raised approximately 50 colts a year. He passed away in early 2017 and his daughter Kirsten will continue to manage the firm, which sent one bareback horse and one saddle bronc to the 2016 Wrangler NFR. The firm won the Remuda Award in 2013, and Harry Vold’s wife Karen won the Donita Barnes Lifetime Achievement Award for her commitment to rodeo.

Wayne Vold Rodeo
Stock contractor: Wayne Vold
LOCATION: High River and De Winton, Alberta. BUCKING STOCK OF THE YEAR: Saddle bronc Try Me, 1984. OTHER NOTABLE LIVESTOCK: Awesome, top bareback horse, Wrangler NFR, 2005, 2007. BACKGROUND: Wayne Vold is a son of Harry Vold, one of the PRCA’s most highly regarded stock contractors and a member of its ProRodeo Hall of Fame. Wayne Vold got into the business in 1965 through a partnership with his father, and the liaison continues today. Father and son often work together to supply stock for a rodeo, even though Wayne locates his string in Alberta and Harry’s home base is Avondale, Colo. They also join forces on a breeding program that produces bucking stock for both firms; Wayne Vold raises about 75 percent of his livestock. He has sung the Canadian national anthem several times at the Wrangler NFR, and sent two bareback horses, one saddle bronc and two bucking bulls to the 2018 Wrangler NFR.

Western Rodeos
Stock contractors: Andrew Blessinger, Linda Russell and Ted Groene
LOCATION: Caldwell, Idaho. BUCKING STOCK OF THE YEAR: Bulls Skoal’s Pacific Bell, 1988-90 (a record three times); Copenhagen Rocky, 1992; Grasshopper, 1993. BACKGROUND: Dan H. Russell bought Western Rodeos in 1963 to start a hobby, a place for him to buck vast numbers of bulls raised on his ranches in Nevada, Wyoming and California. Son Dan M. Russell became sole owner when he bought out his father, keeping Western Rodeos a family business. Dan M. passed away in December 2013; his wife Linda now operates the firm with a partner, former Wrangler NFR stock superintendent Ted Groene. Through generations of work securing some of the best stock on the West Coast, and a successful breeding program with semen the Russells started collecting in the late 1980s, Western Rodeos has become a strong rodeo contracting business. They sent a bull to the 2014 Wrangler NFR. WEBSITE: www.WesternRodeos.com.

Gold Buckle Beer is proud to be the official beer of the PRCA. We know the athletes, fans and committees that make rodeo happen put forth a lot of dedication to make those Gold Buckle dreams come true and we’re here to celebrate alongside them. Brewed on the plains of La Junta, Colo., we bring that same dedication and work ethic to the tank when brewing our American Lager. We know the road to the American dream isn’t easy; we’ve walked it alongside you, and it’s why we strive to create a beer that meets the Gold Buckle standard of success, because shared success is true success. Our commitment to rodeo can be seen by our activation with individual committees, our sponsorship of cowboys and through a percentage of each can of Gold Buckle Beer sold going to the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association. Teaming up with the contestants and committees that are the backbone of our sport, we’re honored to start sharing moments over a Gold Buckle Beer.
